Kansas City Fireman Killed After Lightning Strikes a Granary.

Press telegrams to the Post-Dispatch from various points in Nebraska and Kansas report terrific wind, sleet and snow storms sweeping through those states. Two towns are reported practically wiped out by tornadoes, with several fatalities and a number of persons injured.

The town of Briggs, Tex., was destroyed by a tornado. Six persons were killed, 30 injured. Bushton, Kan., was badly damaged, if not wiped out entirely, and loss of life there is feared. A tornado wrecked a baseball grandstand at Cleburne, Tex., injuring a number of spectators.

Seven distinct tornadoes raged through Barton County, Kansas, according to Tropic dispatches. Rice and Stafford counties were also tornado-swept.

At Kansas City, Mo., a fireman was killed and a boy was seriously hurt while fighting flames at a granary which was struck by lightning.

Omaha reports the railroad suffering heavy damage. Many miles of telegraph and telephone wires are down.

TERRIFIC STORM

SWEEPING NEBRASKA.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OMAHA, Neb., April 13.—A terrific rain and windstorm swept over Western Nebraska last night, and the telephone communication is prostrated today. The Burlington, Union Pacific, Rock Island and other Western railroads are running trains by time schedule, as they are without any dispatching wires. Near Julesburg, Colo., the Union Pacific lost eight miles of poles. At other places between Julesburg and Omaha there are great gaps.

The heavy rains raised all creeks and rivers until swollen to overflowing everywhere. The storm is sweeping eastward and is due in Omaha this morning, where rain has been falling for several hours. Severe damage is believed to have occurred out in the State, but no reports can be secured.

TWO COUNTIES SWEEPED;

TOWN IS WIPED OUT.

STAFFORD, Kan., April 13.—Bushton, a small town in Rice County, on the Santa Fe Railroad, is reported to have been destroyed by a tornado yesterday evening. It is feared that there were several fatalities. Telegraph and telephone wires are down and the stricken village is isolated.

Tornadoes swept through Rice and Barton counties wrecking houses, leveling fences and damaging crops. In this city seven houses were demolished, the Friends Church is in ruins, part of the Stafford House is gone and a dozen houses were injured by falling timbers. In the county, many houses and barns were wrecked.

The storm came from the southwest and passed over the business part of the town without damage, first striking two blocks east of Main street. Here the home of Fred Tanner and the parsonage of the Congregational Church were demolished. The Quaker Church is blown down, the debris falling upon the home of Mrs. Ella

MAN'S FIENDISH ACT
MAY RUIN HIS SIGHT.

JOHN GONDRO.

BLINDED BY LIME,
BOY CRAWLS HOME

Man's Brutal Act Committed When Child Refused to Buy Beer.

Blinded by lime from a trowel of mortar which a man maliciously threw in his face, John Gondro, aged 11, crawled on his hands and knees half a block to his home at 2077 Lombin avenue. He is now suffering intense pain, and his eyes are bandaged in the hope of saving the sight. The left eye, it is feared, has been ruined.

The boy's refusal to go for a "can" of beer for the man was the occasion of the brutal act. The man had left the scene of his work when he was sought there, a short time afterward, and orders for his arrest have been issued.

John and his companion, Walter Rose, aged 12, who lives at 3077 Lombin avenue, were playing in front of a new building erected at 225 Labadie avenue. The bricklayer called to John and asked him to run over to the saloon and buy him a "can" of beer.

"I can't," John replied, "my mother doesn't let me go in saloons."

With an oath, the man threw his trowel full of mortar at the boy. The mortar struck John in the face as he fled to the ground screaming with pain. He crawled half a block on his hands and knees to his home and was found by John Dolan, a neighbor, trying to open the gate. Dolan led him into the house.

John's father carried him to the office of three physicians, but all advised that an oculist be consulted. From the Emergency Hospital, at Fourteenth and Locust streets, he was directed to the City Dispensary. At the dispensary John's eyes were examined and he was sent to the eye clinic of Washington University Medical School, Eighteenth and Locust streets.

He did not receive treatment until three hours after the injury.

The contract at the building said Friday that he did not know the bricklayer's name. He declared that the bricklayer drew his eye suddenly. He knew the man only as "Mike," Walter Rose describes the man as being about 26 years old and says he had sandy hair and a red complexion.

The official forecast is: "Showers and thunderstorms Friday, cooler Friday night; partly cloudy Saturday, with probably showers; minimum temperature Saturday night, 40 degrees, with brisk winds afternoon and evening."

ASH RAIN STOPS,
LAVA FLOW ENDS,
DANGER IS OVER

Intense Activity in Repair Work Follows Depression Attending Eruption.

FOOD IS GROWING SCARCE

Refugee Hosts in Naples Leave Nothing to Ship to Vesuvius District.

Queen Gives Refugees
Linen Worth $10,000.

NAPLES, April 13.—Queen Helena, before leaving for Rome today, revisited the quarters occupied by the refugees and made large donations to the sufferers. Among other gifts was a quantity of linen of all sorts, for which she paid $10,000.

NAPLES, April 13, 7:55 a. m.—All the news received here this morning is encouraging. For the first time since Tuesday the sun is shining all over Naples, and although above the city the usual gray cloud is discernible, the fall of ashes has almost entirely ceased.

Ashes, however, continued to fall throughout the night, adding several inches to the accumulation in the streets. Nearly 6000 people are employed in clearing the roofs and main thoroughfares. Gangs of men are engaged in piling the ashes in the middle of the narrow streets, which makes the passage of vehicles exceedingly difficult and adds to the discomfort of pedestrians.

The Neapolitans have become, to a certain degree, sun worshippers. One day they are plunged in the depths of despair because the sun is obscured by falling ashes, and the next day their spirits are buoyant, for the sun shines and no ashes are sprinkling over Naples.

Air Clear of Ashes.

Today two inhabitants of Naples are particularly happy, for not only is the sun shining brightly, but the air is clear of ashes and invigorating, with the result that automobile coats and goggles, the ash-storm costume, have been replaced by the usual gay-colored apparel. People are driving about in open carriages and so much color has returned to the surroundings that the grayness of the buildings, palms and other ash-covered trees makes a pleasant contrast with the sapphire-tinted sea.

Several men apparently have braved the terror of the wild wastes of lava about the royal observatory on Mount Vesuvius. One of them returned here this morning and gave an account of a most interesting conversation which he had with Prof. Mattucci, director of the observatory, who was in a very hopeful mood when his visitor left him. The professor said:

"Very little is known of the volcanic forces, so one can never safely predict what is going to happen. But I think I can with some confidence express the hope, based on my experience here, that the explosive period of the eruption has passed."

"For the present the light wind blowing will in all probability carry the ashes in a direction which will leave Naples free from further annoyance of this nature, and as it is the ill wind is blowing good to other places, for ashes are the most fertile it is possible to use. It is merely a question just now of having too much of a good thing."

Prof. Mattucci is not the only person who regards the situation as having improved. King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena expect to return to Rome today and Premier Sonnino and Finance Minister Sallandra, who have been supervising the relief measures, left Naples for the capital this morning.

Nearly five thousand refugees are already housed here and the number is rapidly increasing. In fact, all the buildings available for the accommodation of the fugitives are crowded, and if many more persons seek shelter here it will be necessary to place them in army tents. The municipal and military authorities have already taken steps to accommodate a large number of people in this manner.

The reputation of Neapolitans for laziness is well known.

NIEDRINGHAUS IS JEALOUS OF HIM

Banquet Promoter Tells Story of Effort to Keep Shaw Away.

TELEGRAM BROUGHT HIM

Presidential Aspirant Warned by Wire Against Being "Buried."

Sim T. Harris, St. Louis Republican worker, who studied politics under Boss Cox of Cincinnati, Senator Foraker and the late Mark Hanna, has learned that it is easier to direct the movements of a Cabinet officer and presidential aspirant than to keep on the right side of the politicians in his own ward.

His telegram to Secretary Shaw, warning the head of the Treasury Department that he would be a "dead end" if he did not attend the Hotel Jefferson banquet April 20, had the desired effect, and Mr. Shaw has promised to come. But the Republicans of the Twenty-second Ward have failed to show equal appreciation of Mr. Harris's counsel, and Thursday night he just beat the second-gate-at-arms in reaching the door of the club's meeting place, shouting "Pinhead!" at his fellow Republicans whose cries of "Put him out!" had mastered his desire.

This is as members of the club tell it. Harris says that he stood his ground amid the clamor, and was still in the room when it subsided.

Harris, as secretary of the Missouri League of Republican Clubs, made arrangements for the Shaw banquet, and he is proud of the feat.

In his list of invited guests he included Ed Butler and Richard C. Kerens. The recognition of the Democratic chairman of the Shaw banquet, responsible for his failure to reach the United States Senate gave mortal offense to Thomas K. Niedringhaus, chairman of the Republican State Committee. Niedringhaus accordingly sent his emphatic regrets.

Banquet to Be a "Go."

It was then announced that Secretary Shaw, rather than to foment factional strife, would not attend the dinner. Secretary Harris insisted the Secretary would come, and wired him that if he didn't he would be buried "beyond the resurrection."

A committee of well-known Republicans was named to take charge of the Shaw dinner arrangements, and Secretary Shaw then gave out an interview, in which he said he would attend.

The banquet was a tame affair until Niedringhaus burst in and said he couldn't come," said Harris Friday to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"Then the acceptances began to pour in. We had only 49 before Tom sent his letter. Inside of 48 hours the number had increased to 300. Today we have 462, and we are wondering where we are going to seat them all."

Harris is 47 years old, but he looks 15 years younger.

He has followed politics somewhat professionally for a number of years. His face is aggressive, pugnacious, and he talks emphatically and with nervous energy, emphasizing each word with a positive gesture.

"I have lived in St. Louis since 1888, and during the greater part of that time I've been fighting the battles of the Republican party," said Harris while several lieutenants stood about his office in the Missouri Republican

"CAPITALIST"
GUMBERTS BEATEN

Worst in Battle With Fists and Bottles in Saloon Once His.

PRISONER IN HOSPITAL

Opponent in Bout at 4 A. M. Is a Guest at Jefferson Hotel.

Mark Gumberts, who described himself as a "capitalist," is a prisoner in the City Hospital under arrest on a charge of disturbing the peace. He says that his left leg is broken. This diagnosis does not agree with the idea of the physicians who have scheduled the "capitalist's" injuries as a sprained knee and sundry bruises about the countenance.

Gumberts, who says that some of his capital is invested in the saloon at 6801 Delmar boulevard, told the hospital authorities that he was in a saloon at Jefferson avenue about 4 a. m. when he was beaten by a man who called him a "capitalist," who is widely known in sporting circles and has a reputation as a tough and tumble scrapper.

When Gumberts was searched at the hospital he was found with a bottle and a knife. He said that he had no recollection of using a knife on his antagonist, but his recollection of the bottle was quite clear. However, he said, he may have had a knife as the other man was considerably larger than he and if a knife was available it was probably used.

Gumberts sent for a friend Friday morning to sign his bond so that he could leave the hospital. His face was bruised and swollen and he showed the effects of the other man's efforts as a pugilist.

Miss Elizabeth Ohley of 1012 East Sixth street, Alton, was painfully burned about the hands Thursday by the explosion of a box of stove polish. She was busily engaged polishing the family range at her home when the box of polish suddenly burst and exploded, a piece of the tin lacerating her wrist. The contents were thrown into her face, almost blinding her. The young lady is 20 years of age and is engaged to be married May 2 to Edward Springer. The explosive contained some chemical which slightly disfigured her face, although her eyesight was unimpaired. It is not believed that the incident will interfere with the wedding plans.

EXCITEMENT OF 13
INNING BALL GAME
KILLS HY. PASCHALL

Well-Known Bachelor, Long an Enthusiastic "Fan," Dies of Heart Disease at His Washington Boulevard Home Five Hours After Close of Thrilling Contest.

PROVOKED BY UMPIRE'S DECISION AT THE CRISIS

Lawrence Harrigan, Mr. Paschall's Companion at Game, Tells of His Excitement Over Play—His Family Long Prominent in St. Louis—One Brother Survives.

Henry G. Paschall died suddenly of heart disease Thursday evening, five hours after he had watched the thrilling 13-inning baseball game between the Pittsburg and the Cardinals. He had cheered vigorously during the crucial moments and had, with other spectators, been intensely excited when it looked as if the Cardinals would tie the score or win the game when three men were on bases and but one man was out.

After the game was over Mr. Paschall, who had long been an enthusiastic "fan," returned with friends to his home at 3874 Washington boulevard. On the way he discussed the game and its many exciting features. He expressed great regret that the home team had failed to win after putting up a gallant struggle and he condemned the decisions of Umpire Klem that he said had been unfair and had caused the Cardinals to lose.

Mr. Paschall ate dinner at the usual hour of 7:30, his nephew, W. B. Carr, with whom he lived, being his sole companion. He talked much of the ball game and declared it was one of the most interesting contests he had ever seen.

West Out in Evening.

After dinner Mr. Paschall, who is 62 years old, went to the drug store of H. B. Ohlson & Co., at Vandeventer avenue and Washington boulevard, where he frequently spent part of his evenings. He appeared then to be in perfect health. He was as witty and goodhumored as usual. During the evening he discussed the ball game at length and said he enjoyed it to a degree that the fact that St. Louis suffered defeat.

Mr. Paschall left the drug store at 8:30. His home is only a short distance away. Soon after arriving there he complained of feeling ill, and a telephone message was sent to Dr. Willis Hall of 525 Delmar boulevard, who for five weeks had been treating Mr. Paschall with nitroglycerine for a valvular heart trouble.

Dr. Hall was not at home and could not be reached at the time, and emergency calls were sent to Dr. George Gellhorn of 381 Washington boulevard and Dr. W. E. Fisher of 281 Washington boulevard. Both these reached the house in a short time, and Dr. Hall arrived later. All three were present when Mr. Paschall died of an aneurism of the heart.

Mr. Paschall went to the ball game with Lawrence Harrigan.

"I have been accompanying Mr. Paschall to baseball games all my life," said Mr. Harrigan. "He came to my office Thursday and we went to the park."

"He was nervous and fidgety, and when the game became close he warmed up to it. When Grady slid to the plate in the twelfth inning he was much excited and seemed to regret very much that the umpire declared him out. You know if Grady had been called 'safe' the Cardinals would have won."

"After that he lost interest and seemed to be much depressed, but I attributed that to his weak state of health and he managed to attend the game Friday and I drove him to his residence."

"At 10 p. m. I received a telephone message telling me to go to his house as he was very ill. He was dead when I reached the house."

Leaves One Brother.

Mr. Paschall has one brother living, George W. Paschall of Seattle, Wash. He had three sisters, all of whom are dead. They were: Mrs. W. C. Tyler of Louisville, Ky.; Mrs. Thomas K. Cummings of London and Mrs. George Allen of St. Louis.

Mr. Paschall had lived for some years with his nephew, W. B. Carr, in bachelor apartments at the Washington boulevard address. He had retired from business, but retained an interest in a publishing concern. Mr. Carr, the nephew, is the secretary of George Knapp & Co., publishers of the Republic.

Mrs. Horatia N. Davis of Vandeventer place is a niece of Mr. Paschall. He has no other relatives living in St. Louis.

Mr. Paschall had not been active in business in many years. Born of a wealthy family in St. Louis, he lived here all his life and seldom left the city even for short trips.

He had hosts of friends, and his easy manner of life gave him time to cultivate them. He was cheerful, agreeable and always good-natured. He attended most of the recent operatic performances and was a familiar figure in the foyer between the acts. Few men in St. Louis had a wider acquaintance and few had more friends.

FINE GREENE AND GAYNOR
OVER MILLION

Savannah Contractors, Convicted of Conspiring to Defraud Government.

FOUR YEARS IN PRISON

Co-Conspirators of Capt. Oberlin Carter Punished After Long Immunity.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 13.—Judge Speer in the United States Court today sentenced D. B. Greene and John Gaynor to a term of four years in the Penitentiary and to a fine of $25,000, the amount each is charged with having fraudulently obtained from the United States government.

Imprisonment is to be in the Federal prison at Atlanta.

The defense with its bill of exceptions. The lawyers asked for an order of court extending to 30 days the time permitted counsel for preparing this bill, which will be very voluminous, and that the order act as a supersedeas.

The trial consumed about thirteen and a half weeks.

Greene and Gaynor were members of a contracting firm which did most of the great Government harbor work at Savannah, Ga., beginning in 1881. The work consisted of deepening the harbor and building a new waterway, and two jetty. Their conviction finds them guilty of conspiring with Capt. Oberlin M. Carter, the representative of the Government, to defraud the United States out of vast sums of money.

Carter served five years in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., for his conviction with the conspiracy, beginning his sentence in 1899. The sentence included, besides imprisonment, dismissal from the army, the pollution of his disgrace in his native town annually for five years, and all army officers were forbidden to speak to him ever.

Hard Extradition Fight.

Greene and Gaynor were indicted in 1902 and after fighting extradition proceedings in New York fled to Canada. After lengthy proceedings there, they were finally extradited and brought to Savannah for trial.

By the time it was brought out that by a manipulation of the specifications and bids Carter had managed to throw most of the Government work to Greene and Gaynor at prices over $2,000,000 in excess of its just cost.

The increased sum paid by the Government was divided between the conspirators.

Disturbed by Smoking Furnace.

Charged with allowing her furnace to smoke, Mrs. John Hogan of 623 Park avenue avenue was sentenced to 30 days in Judge Pollard in the Dayton Street Police Court. After hearing her explanation Friday that the furnace was out of order, Judge Pollard discharged her. William L. Mehl, who lives in the same house, was the complainant. He charged that he was forced by the smoke to open the windows of his home at all hours and also that Mrs. Hogan turned off the water in the house.

CREDITORS OF ZION THREATEN DOWIE'S ARREST

Will Charge Fraud Unless the Prophet Accepts Overseer Voliva's Compromise.

WANT ELIJAH REMOVED

Enraged at His Persistence in Clinging to Claims for Control.

SUMMER HOME IS SOLD

Splendid Ben MacDhui at White Lake, Mich., Sacrificed at Auction.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ZION CITY, Ill., April 13.—Anxiety of Zion is threatening to have John Alexander Dowie arrested today on charges of fraud and obtaining money under false pretenses, unless he accepts the compromise proposed by Overseer Voliva. They strenuously object to the giving of more than a moderate allowance to the First Apostle.

Creditors who have threatened bankruptcy proceedings have been pursued by Overseer Voliva, that they will receive 100 cents on the dollar if they support the new regime in the present crisis. They are convinced that their interests will be best safeguarded if Dowie is eliminated from the financial problem in Zion, and they are willing to take any legal steps that promise to remove him as a factor.

Many of them are so enraged at his persistence in clinging to his claims that they refuse to consider the result that might have followed his arrest. The new leaders in Zion and the creditors believe Dowie should be the first to take account of his ill-health and that if he insists on waging war they must fight back with all the power at their command.

The Zion City postmaster, circumscribed by the United States postal regulations, cannot state what steps he will take. It is known, however, that Overseer Voliva has asked the Postoffice Department to distinguish between Dowie and the other leaders in Zion, and mail intended for the Zion industries and the strictly personal mail belonging to Dowie.

Will Fight for Zion Control.

Prophet Dowie says he will fight hard to regain control of Zion, and as soon as he considers he has taken the necessary preliminary steps he will move on his feet and proclaim himself the "First Apostle."

"We have advanced, and will advance, only one condition—complete restoration of power, temporal as well as ecclesiastical, and a demand for an absolute retraction of the slanderous statement made by General Overseer Voliva and his followers regarding the moral character of Eddy, Haley & Voliva."

"We are preparing a bill in chancery petitioning the courts to set aside the transfer of the Zion City property made between General Overseer Voliva and Deacon Alexander Granger, because the instrument was absolutely void."

"Dowie revoked the power of attorney which he designated to Voliva two days before the illegal transfer was made."

"Dowie will not immediately proceed to Zion City, but will remain in his apartments at the Hotel Hamilton in this city, until every preliminary legal step has been taken."

"He will then proceed to Zion City and enter it with all of the power and authority which he possessed when he last left the place."

May Take Matter Into Court.

Unless conference between attorneys representing the warring interests in the Zion City controversy reach some sort of agreement at conferences which are to be held late today, the matter will be taken into the courts tomorrow. Dowie was announced today by the lawyers retained by Dowie that they will probably file a bill asking for the transfer of the Zion City and Zion Church properties to Deacon Alexander Granger by Overseer Voliva, be set aside.

"The bill will probably be filed in the courts of Lake County at Waukegan and in the courts here at the same time. The attorney retained by Dowie claims that the bill will be denied for the reason that all the property assigned by Voliva to Granger was not the property of Dowie, but was held by him as trustee."

It is also expected that application will be made for the appointment of a receiver pending the settlement of the dispute as to the control of the property.

DOWIE'S SUMMER HOME IS SOLD AT AUCTION.

MUSKOGEE, Mich., April 13.—The lofty steeple, where in years past John Alexander Dowie, with great pomp and ceremony, delivered impassioned addresses to the thousands assembled at Ben MacDhui, the splendid summer home of the former ruler of Zion City, an auctioneer yesterday sold his furniture and fittings of Dowie's White Lake establishment. It is estimated that the property sold was worth $20,000.

Widow Compromises Suit.

Mrs. Augusta Frisch, who brought suit for $200 against Festus J. Wade, in connection with the death of her husband, Henry Frisch, who was struck by an automobile driven by one of Wade's servants and fatally injured, Nov. 2, 1905, was awarded a judgment of $100, based on a stipulation signed by both sides. The stipulation simply stated that the plaintiff had been adequately adjusted without a trial.

Burglar in Boarding House.

Through an insecure window a burglar entered the boarding house conducted by Edward Zimmerman and Carl Hartman at 272 E. Kaib street and stole a quantity of jewelry and $4 from a trunk in a room on the first floor. Their booty consisted of a watch valued at $5, five rings valued at $12.50, brooch, $7, and a small watch valued at $2.50, the property of Zimmerman. Bartman lost a lady's watch valued at $18, and $4.

WIDOW OF 60, CUPID'S VICTIM

She Changed Her Mind and Answered When Suitor Renewed Proposal.

Although the snows of 60 winters have turned her hair from gold to gray, Mrs. Freda Steffens, 6313 South Broadway, was married Thursday to August Lux, 47, who has been a suitor for her hand for more than a year. They were married by Justice Cronin at his office.

Thursday night many friends of the pair gathered at the home and the celebration of the event was kept up until long past midnight, an old-time charivari being one of the principal, if not one of the most pleasant, features of the evening.

Lux, who has been married for several months with Mrs. Wittenbeck, who lives in the flat above where Mrs. Steffens has lived for many years, began his courtship last summer. He proposed to Mrs. Steffens then, but was refused. He then went to St. Louis County, where he worked at his trade of bricklayer until Wednesday, when he returned to the city and again renewed his suit.

Thursday he again proposed, and learned that no matter what age a woman may be, "no" is not to be taken as final in answer to a proposal of marriage. Mrs. Steffens consented, and the couple went at once to the marriage license office and got the license. The ceremony followed at once.

Lux has three grown and married children living. A daughter in New York and two sons in St. Louis. Fred Steffens has a son, Fred, who is a butcher shop at Ninth street and Broadway. The other son, Oscar Steffens, the other son, conducts a butcher shop at Ninth street and Broadway. League headquarters, admiring their chief and listening to his political philosophy.

Pooh, Pooh, for Two Toms.

"Now, a little thing like a fuss with the State Chairman and the National Committee of the party never disturbs me," said he, referring to National Committee Chairman Akins, "nobody supposed for a minute that the Humaneville called merchant can give me any political pointers. And Tom Niedringhaus, why, I was secretary of the Cincinnati Republican Committee in the campaign of 1888, when Tom was just learning the tripline business."

"The two Toms have tried to hand me a bunch, but I've fooled them. The whole trouble about this banquet has been that the State Chairman, Mr. Akins, is jealous of me and of the work of the Missouri Republican League."

"There is a little inside history back of it all. I went to Washington more than six months ago to get Secretary Shaw to come to the banquet. He patted me on the back in accepting and said that nothing would prevent him coming."

"Now when the pie hunters in the Commercial Building (State Committee) and the pie eaters in the Government Building (Federal officeholders) heard of the Republican League stealing a march on them they tried to hand us a package. The play was this:

"Niedringhaus was to refuse to go because we invited Dick Kerens. Then Akins was to pull Shaw off. Now what happened?"

"Why, Akins sent a telegram to Shaw advising him to cancel the dinner engagement. And what was Shaw's reply?"

"Says Shaw Never Declined. 'He told Akins that he couldn't honorably refuse to attend. So Tom side-stepped and now he is a member of the reception committee and claiming credit for the present arrangements.'"

IMBODEN HEIRESS ON WITNESS STAND

Mrs. J. G. Parrish Tells of Her Father's Habits of Life.

MISS PIERCE'S CASE ENDS

All Evidence for Alleged Common Law Wife Is Submitted.

The taking of testimony for the defense in the suit of Lillie Belle Pierce, alleged common law wife, against the estate of Luther E. Imboden for a widow's allowance, will be resumed Saturday forenoon in Judge Taylor's court. There was no session of the court Friday.

The plaintiff's case closed Thursday afternoon, and what sooner than was expected, after Judge Taylor had sustained an objection to the competency of Miss Pierce as a witness and her deposition and that of her mother, Mrs. L. V. Pierce, had been ruled out. Miss Pierce was not permitted to testify because she is a party to a contract, the other party to which is deceased. The deposition of Mrs. Pierce was not permitted to be read because Attorney Wheelock had promised that she would be in court. He attempted to show by the testimony of a physician that she was unable to appear, but the objection was sustained.

Imboden Heiress on Stand.
Mrs. John G. Parrish Jr., only daughter of Col. Imboden and the sole heir under his will, was the first witness for the defense. She told of the regular habits of her father and of her own courtship and marriage. She said her father had no objection to Dr. Parrish as a suitor for her hand, but wanted her to wait several years before marrying. She gave her age as 22 years.

Judge Barclay, who conducted the cross-examination of Mrs. Parrish, told her that if she had any personal objection to answering any of the questions he asked her, he hoped she would say so, and if it was possible he would withdraw such questions, but she answered all the questions without objection.

Mrs. Julia Furlong of 1716 Longfellow boulevard told of Col. Imboden saying to her that while he loved the society of women he never expected to marry again. When Judge Taylor sustained objections to 40 letters written by Miss Pierce to Col. Imboden being read to the jury as part of the plaintiff's case, Attorney A. H. Roubush stated that two letters had not been submitted with the others to the court because they were written by Miss Pierce to Col. Imboden's daughter, Attorney Joseph L. Wheelock of counsel for Miss Pierce, took occasion later to say that Mr. Roubush had acted with the strictest propriety in withholding these two letters.

"Hold on," interposed the speaker, hefting his gavel and meeting the distance. "The Missouriian's seat, 'hold on.' That's all the 'hold on' I know, but if you call me that I'll get riled."

Fearing a riot, the Missouriian was muted, equipped with blinders, and led forth.

"Hello!" exclaimed Seneca, upon meeting Seneca in a New York cafe. "What are you doing here?"

"Letting my lunch, of course," replied Seneca.
"But I thought you were keeping a swell restaurant downtown."

"So I am, but I wouldn't keep it long if I ate there. It's too expensive."

Young St. Louisan Who Appears in Princeton Triangle Club Operetta

E. O. STANARD JR.

ST. LOUIS BOY IN "TABASCO LAND"

E. O. Stanard Jr. Appears in Princeton Triangle Club's Entertainment.

Among the members of the Princeton University Triangle Club which will present its operetta, "Tabasco Land," at the Edison next Monday evening, is E. O. Stanard Jr. of St. Louis, whose father, Edwin O. Stanard Sr., is prominent in local commercial and financial circles. Indian brave in the production, is one of the crack singers of the Triangle Club, and will be doubtless singled out for a special welcome by a St. Louis audience.

"Tabasco Land," the music and book of which were written by Princeton undergraduates, tells a bright and entertaining story, the scenes of which are laid in a region somewhere south of the United States, and is full of timely hits and gags of current interest. A New York mine owner, a French Count, a beautiful girl of the tropics, a swagger Englishman, an up-to-date chauffeur and any number of terrors, Indians and sailors, together with the famous "Broncho ballet" of Princeton students dressed as dancing girls and headed by R. S. Barbee as Carita, the premiere danseuse, figure in the cast. The operetta has made a great hit in New York and other Eastern cities.

GENERAL DELIVERY CLOSED TO WOMEN

Hartford Postmaster Moves Against Clandestine Mail, but Is Circumvented.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
HARTFORD, Conn., April 12.—There are 15,000 women in Hartford who still have hope. How many suspicious husbands are included in the 40,000 native-born males cannot be positively stated. But the sudden flank movement which has caused Uncle Sam to refuse to rent boxes in the Hartford Postoffice to women, at the same time that women are refused service at the general delivery window, carries its own inference.

The reason given by the postal authorities is that there are so few boxes in the postoffice and so large a demand for them that the line had to be drawn somewhere. Women rented the largest share of them and business men were compelled to have their mail delivered by carrier. They trucked. The postmaster was compelled to take action.

Gentle woman, however, glories in the soft impeachment. The postmaster is flooded with protests. Her decision on her rights to receive clandestine correspondence, she has established private mailing boxes at the small stores, which are doing a thriving business.

U. S. Infantry and Cavalry Will Use Exactly Same Gun.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The War Department has about completed the issue of new rifles to the troops in the United States. This marks the passing of the carbine, so long a weapon on the cavalry branch of the service. Both infantry and cavalry are now being supplied with the same model of rifle, a modification of the model of 1903. This is about six inches shorter than the Krag, and about two inches longer than the carbine now being discarded by the cavalry.

For the present the rifles are being used with the rod bayonet, but later they will be called in, when the new bayonet, recently decided upon will be substituted. The issue to the troops in the Philippines will follow and when that has been done all the soldiers of the United States Army will be armed alike.

ACCUSATIONS LED YOUTH TO CRIME

"White" Lenham, Confessing Theft, Blames Talk of Old Acquaintances.

To disgrace that followed his arrest and trial in connection with the burning of a girl playmate six years ago, Charles, also known as "White" Lenham, who admits robbing his roommate, ascribes his wandering and criminal career.

Lenham was arrested Thursday night, on complaint of Robert Hutchinson, whose room he formerly shared at 31 North Third street. He confessed to Detective McGrath and McQueen that he had taken and pawned Hutchinson's two overcoats. He entered the room, he said, by means of a duplicate key. To Chief Desmond Lenham said that he became a wanderer after the death of Carrie Cartwright in Springfield, Ill., six years ago. He was at a party, where the boys and girls, among them Carrie, started to play with firebrands. Lenham says that the girl's paper costume, in which she was masquerading, took fire, and she was burned to death. He was accused of willfully igniting her clothing and was tried. He was acquitted of the charge.

Runs From Accusations.
To escape the accusations still made, he says, he ran away and joined a circus as a drummer. He wandered about the country for two years, finally coming to St. Louis three years ago. The first day he spent in St. Louis, he says, he was arrested for snatching a woman's purse, and was committed to the Reform School, where he remained for 22 months. On his release he came to St. Louis and worked in a restaurant until last week. He was discharged, and, finding himself in need of money, took the overcoats.

Lenham says that he has been dismissed from several places where he has been employed through the interference of a street car conductor, who was formerly a guard at the Reform School.

Lenham says the conductor keeps track of him and informs his employers that he has been in the Reform School.

Avenues Closed.
From the Philadelphia Ledger.
There was a frown on the brow of the bank broker.
"This scheme of having banks open all night is all to the bad," he grumbled. "Think of two sets of cashiers keeping tabs on each other, and me kept out of a job entirely. I tell you, an honest man's got no show. Was he really to blame that he went into the promotion business?"

LEADERS CALL BRICKLAYERS OUT

Members of International Union Won't Work With Building Trades Council.

THOUSANDS ARE IDLE

Men Quit on 160 Buildings and Will on Fifty More.

Joseph Kelley and Bert Childs, officers of the Bricklayers' and Stonemasons' International Union, drove around St. Louis Friday calling off bricklayers from every building job on which the stonemasons employed were not affiliated with their organization but with the Building Trades Council.

It was announced that work had been stopped on 160 buildings and that there were about 50 more which had not been visited.

Officials of the Bricklayers' Union say they believe they have the better of the situation and the strike will be over within a week.

So far, comparative few unattached bricklayers have been imported by the Building Trades Council and the supply of this class of labor is said by representatives of both sides to be unequal to the demand.

Work on all of the big downtown buildings now in course of construction is still under way, but little progress is being made with residences and flats, especially in the West End, because the stonemasons employed on them are all members of the union which is affiliated with the Building Trades Council and the members of the International Union and Stonemasons' Union No. 18 refuse to work with them.

As a result of Friday's ultimatum of the bricklayers it is said that 300 members of the Building Trades Council will be out of work. Of these 400 will be stonemasons and the remainder members of the various building trades.

Stonemasons' Union No. 18, affiliated with the Bricklayers' Union, now has a membership of 160 men, most of whom

SURGEON GIVES BOY A NEW SOUL

Operation Changes Incurrable
Into a Lad of Sweet Disposition.

BONE PRESSED ON BRAIN

Mother Happy, Because Now They Won't Send Him to Reformatory.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TOLEDO, O., April 13.—Hands of skilled surgeons at St. Vincent's Hospital have transformed Harold Hurley
the bad boy, into Hurley the good boy.
A few days ago Harold, aged 12, who was slated for Lancaster Reform School, was taken to the hospital. Tuesday he was taken home, a changed boy, different in thought, act and even appearance.
Harold has been a problem to his mother and Juvenile Court officials for some time past. He was apparently an incurrable. Probation Officer Dilgart got a look at Harold recently and discovered a peculiar scar on the boy's forehead. Inquiry developed the fact that when he was 5 years of age Harold had stumbled, and striking his head upon a stone, sustained a fracture of the skull. He did not die, but gradually became bad.
His mother exhausted every resource known to mother love in vain. Harold only became more unmanageable. Then he was taken into Juvenile Court, but instead of being sent to Lancaster he was removed to the hospital, where the pressure of broken bone on his brain was removed.
At first, after the operation, his faculties returned slowly. The mother anxiously and fearfully watched her boy, and as consciousness returned and his mind slowly found its equilibrium, her joy knew no bounds.

Different Boy Now.

Harold is at home now, a sweet-tempered, thoughtful, kind little boy. His whole life has been changed and he re-joices in a new mind and a new soul.
He will not be sent to Lancaster.
"The most wonderful change brought about by the operation," said the boy's mother Tuesday, "is the restoring of his affection. Ever since that fall, when he was 5 years old, he has seemed to have no affection for any one. He would not endure the petting which other children love.
"Now the child's affection has all come back. He is gentle, obedient, and sweet—an absolutely different boy. He would climb out of his window and run away before breakfast, and sometimes we could not find him for days. Many a time his father has spent the whole night searching for him. The boy would sleep downtown, in boxes and alleys, rather than come home, and we could not understand it, because we had always tried to make his home a happy place for him.
"Dr. Donnelly states that the pressure of that piece of bone upon the brain

DIES BECAUSE HE MARRIED SERVANT

had gradually dulled all the higher sen-sibilities, and if it had gone on, Harold would, in time, have become an utter degenerate.
"No one knows how thankful we are today that our boy has been saved from Lancaster, where he would have been constantly punished for things for which we now know he was not responsible."

Priest Faints in Pulpit.

While discoursing on "The Passion of Our Lord" at St. Francis Xavier's (College) Church at the closing service of Holy Thursday, Rev. Father Joseph Conroy, S. J., fainted in the pulpit. He was removed by others of the clergy, and soon recovered consciousness. His weakness is attributed to Lenten fasting, and to the exertion which he was obliged to make to be heard in the large church, where many were passing in and out for the veneration of the sacraments at a side altar.

RITLAND, Vt., April 12.—Because he regretted having eloped with his 16-year-old domestic servant, Miss Flossie Ship-pee of Sherburne, Vt., a handsome blonde who looks five years older, Arthur D. Howland, a prosperous farmer of Woodstock, Vt., committed suicide, leaving his wife with a three-day-old baby.
Howland was 35 years old and had a farm valued at $40,000.

LABORERS WON'T TAKE A HOLIDAY

Prefer Wages to Rest, So Gotham Doesn't Observe Good Friday.

NEW YORK, April 13.—For the first time in many years Good Friday was not observed as a holiday in New York today. All the city departments were in operation and the stock exchange was open for business as usual. In both of these instances money was responsible for the violation of the city's tradition. The city's Corporation Counsel having decided that department heads had no power to allow per diem men pay for time not actually occupied in the city service, the laborers requested that the usual holiday be omitted. The governing board of the stock exchange decided not to suspend operations for the day because of the unsettled condition of the money market.

ROWING CLUB SELLS.

The Western Rowing Club has under consideration two sites for a new clubhouse, but the locations have not been made public. It is expected that the deal for the new clubhouse will be closed early next week.

HA! HA! FUNNY "FIRE."

Laughing Gas Escapes and Someone Gives Alarm.

A funny alarm was turned in to the Fire Department from the Frisco Building Thursday. When the firemen learned the cause, even the horses laughed. The fire wasn't a fire, but all concerned in the excitement had a merry time, even the gargoyles on the cornice wearing a broad grin. Someone mistook the smoke caused by the overturning of a tank of "laughing gas" in the dental office of Dr. G. Winter, room 422, for a real fire and turned in an alarm. The gas spread throughout the building and even the general passenger agent of the Frisco-Rock Island system smiled and chuckled as he wrote "nothing doing" on the back of an application for a pass. But the hilarity was most noticeable on the first floor, where the gas was condensed into liquid form and orders for "rush one more" kept the bartenders busy.

Boy's Victim Resigns; Hooted From Town.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. GREENCASTLE, Ind., April 14.—As the result of a prank played on one of the members of the faculty, three High School students were expelled by City Superintendent Woody. The boys cut the legs off a chair at Prof. Spurgeon's desk so that when he sat down the chair collapsed, letting him fall to the floor. The professor left to take a position at Franklin College, and the boys students in the school, angry at the faculty for punishing the perpetrators of the joke, followed him to the station, hurling old shoes and rice the entire distance.

GRAND EASTER CLOTHING VALUES

At The World's Greatest Clothing Store, The Globe, 7th and Franklin Av.

Clothing That's Artistic and Sensible

Is the only kind housed by this remarkable clothing establishment. The styles at the Globe are not so extreme that a few months' wear will detract from their appearance. Besides possessing the up-to-date outward appearance, they are built sturdily in those interior parts about which the ordinary eye does not concern itself. But the Globe's trained buyers are very careful that the "STAYING" quality is there. Our customers' interests are protected most thoroughly. Only the products of America's foremost apparel experts find their way past the Globe's trained survivors. If you've ever doubted that the Globe, by virtue of its location, carried other than the very foremost quality and style of clothing, a personal inspection of about 10 minutes' duration will transform you into the most surprised of men. Our word for it.

Your Father Will Tell You

That years ago he bought your knee pants suits at the Globe and never would think of going anywhere else. Such is the Globe clothing foundation. Thousands who donned their first knee pants at the Globe are bringing their boys here today. Men who bought their clothes at the Globe over a quarter of a century ago are bringing their GRANDCHILDREN here today. When a store holds confidence from generation to generation and builds up the biggest clothing business in America, you can bet there's a mighty good reason for it. If you are not a Globe patron, you're spending more money for your clothes than you have to. That's the sum and substance of it!

Your Good Judgment Forbids You

To place your Suit or Topcoat order anywhere but the Globe. The tremendous Broadway rents are not ours. The Globe building is the Globe's property. Our reputation for over 26 years, "Equal quality for less money," exists now more apparently than ever. If you will go to high-priced stores, at least do yourself the favor, before you buy, of pricing the same garments at the Globe. Why spend a few dollars more than necessary? Surely these things are worth investigation.

declares "Lord" George Sanger, who is regarded by showmen as the greatest

"I may claim to possess a knowledge of the subject far in advance of that of any other living man. I have had 56 years' training experience, both of domestic pets and wild animals. I trained and made perform before the public canaries, redpolls, goldfinches, ostriches, emus, pelicans and 60 cockatoos and ma-caws, for the bird ballet, for three seasons at the amphitheater, in the Westminster Bridge park. I have trained camels and elephants and also zebras, which my two daughters used to drive four-in-hand with the greatest ease and confidence. I sold these to American

NEGRO "FEET WASHERS" FEAST

Blacks Gathering in New Jersey
Say They're the Lost Israelites.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Nine hundred and five negroes, who say they are the lost tribe of Israel, and who wash one another's feet as a religious ceremony, have arrived in Plainfield, N. J., from the four points of the compass to begin the feast of the Passover with the blowing of a ram's horn this evening.

The feast will continue for seven days as they call them, and who wash one another's feet as a religious ceremony,
have arrived in Plainfield, N. J., from
the four points of the compass to begin the feast of the Passover with the
blowing of a ram's horn this evening.

The negroes are delegates of the Church of God and Saints of Christ.
They believe that they are the only sect that has retained its national characteristics.

The other negroes of Plainfield, who do not believe that they are Jews, do not take kindly to the sect and will not harbor them during the present feast. The few hotels where negroes are lodged were filled early yesterday morning, and last night 500 men and women walked the streets for want of shelter. Philadelphia sent 200 delegates, Newark 110, Boston 100 and almost every other town in the middle Atlantic States sent one or more delegates. Several delegates came from Kansas, and John Skesekeya comes from Africa.

EDUCATED RUSSIAN EVADING POLICE.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

BERLIN, April 1.—Prof. Reusner, who escaped the clutches of the Russian police, gave a Post-Dispatch representative the following cause of his flight from Russia:

"I intended to publish a daily paper and I called a number of friends and some writers to my house. While we were discussing the venture, police officials entered unannounced. They wanted to arrest me under the pretext that I was taking part in a secret meeting. I succeeded, after a long parley, in convincing the officers that it was not a meeting. The police leader then told me of the reaction's intentions. He said:
"I know that we will have to fight the revolutionists, but I have orders that now, while we have the power, we should take vengeance for those who will some day be killed."

"One of my friends found in the house was selected by the brutal officer as a victim. He had his men stretch him on the floor, unbuttoned his shirt and had a pistol pressed on the poor man's bare breast, threatening to shoot.

"This is only a small part of the tortures my countrymen suffer. The torture of the middle ages is adopted again. Persons sentenced to death are first tortured cruelly, then executed. In some cases persons hanged are revived several times while they are dangling from the rope.

"I cannot stay in such a country.
Russia's freedom rests in the hands of the peasants now. If they would only awake before it is too late."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 14.—Rev.
J. D. Hall, State chaplain to the convicts at Pratt Mines, announces that an organization has been formed at the prison that portends much good to the prisoners. The organization will be its objects are to maintain perfect discipline in the prisons along the lines of study and better morals.

The membership numbers 65 men already, and the number indicates that much good will result.

A Secretary has been elected and instructed to correspond with other prisons throughout the United States, and closer in touch, with the idea of increasing the means for advancement in

DANDRUFF

Is your hair coming out by great combsful? Every combful causing a pang of fear for the future.

Does a white trail of dandruff sift over shoulders?

One bald spot has already appeared. You manage to hide it, but it is spreading rapidly.

Is the hair you have left turning gray or fading and makes you look old and homely when you are still young?

Have you tried many restoratives that gummed your hair into a sticky mass—but accomplished nothing else?

Then Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the remedy you need.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is wholly free from grease or sediment, and will neither gum the hair nor soil the clothing or pillows. It is clear and clean.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic stops falling hair and permanently banishes dandruff.

It does this by destroying the cause—the microbes.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will quickly cover the bald spots with a vigorous growth of hair. We guarantee to grow hair on all heads where a spark of life remains in the roots and where the follicles have not grown over. It makes a delightful dressing, and keeps the scalp clean and healthy.

We sell a large bottle for fifty cents that we guarantee to do all we have claimed or refund your money.

A REASON

The United Drug Company, manufacturers of the Rexall Remedies, for whose preparations we are agents in this city, make 200 remedies, one for each ill. Each one is especially prepared to cure one disease, and that only.
This is an age of specialists. You don't contract with a plumber to build your whole house, do you? Why should you contract with one proprietary medicine to cure all your troubles?

Often times you run across a building contractor who has excellent plumbing department, his own plastering department, and so on,
all of which dovetail together and build the house. This is just what The United Drug Company is doing for you in the medicine line. They have cut down profits, they manufacture Rexall remedies for over 2,000 retail drug stores.
These druggists are the only intermediate profit that stand between The United Drug Company and the patient.

Could The United Drug Company, of which we are a member, afford to make one poor medicine in this line?
Does not common sense tell you that one poor medicine would ruin the sale of the other 199 preparations? If you bought a Rexall preparation and it didn't do for you what we claim it will, would you buy another one of our articles? We believe not. Therefore each preparation must be good—it is good. We are in the drug business know the formulas of these Rexall preparations and it is to our distinction so implicitly that we stand back of them, with our guarantee to refund you your money if they do not benefit you.

Exceptional Qualities In Grace and Elegance

ONE of the most striking features of our highly tailored clothes for men is the fact that they are pivoted on quality rather than price.

Between ways and projects and compromises and study of curtailing here and there, without disparagement to the value, we present clothes graced with an elegance unequalled even in the most carefully fashioned custom clothes.

It seems essentially necessary that to be a well-dressed man one must hold closely to those in authority for style and quality and who may be depended upon for skillfulness in designing and accuracy in selection of materials.

We judge our clothes not by what they seem to be but what they do in actual service; their classification as to style and excellence of design.

Thus we claim that men quickly learn, our superior clothes define the highest expression of the tailors' craft, obtaining that easiness of manner, graceful form-defining back, broad shouldered effect and center vent in coat; the trousers in keeping with the prevailing demands, are of the form-fitting hip models, with or without the cuff bottoms. A diversity of materials co-operating with exclusive demands,

ST. LOUIS FORGER GETS LONG TERM

Fred L. Booth Sent to Iowa Prison for Twenty Years.

HE HAS TWO WIVES

Defrauded Simmons Hardware Co. and C. W. Bright With Worthless Checks.

Fred L. Booth, a St. Louis forger, who defrauded the Simmons Hardware Co. and the Journal of Commerce Publishing Co. of money here in March, has been committed to the Fort Madison (Ia.) Penitentiary, to serve a 20-year sentence imposed by an Iowa court.

Superintendent of the Pinkerton Agency received the information Friday and communicated it to the Police Department, which has a warrant for Booth, based on the Simmons offense.

Booth is a St. Louisan, and was once employed in a hardware store here. Last February he returned to the city and met C. W. Bright, cashier of the Journal of Commerce Publishing Co., and renewed an old acquaintance. Booth said that he was in the employ of a printing concern of Peoria, Ill. He said that he was staying at the Southern Hotel. He asked Bright to introduce him to a bank, as he was running short of ready cash and wished to cash a check from his firm. The check was for $75, and Bright cashed the check himself.

Next day Booth went to the Simmons Hardware Co., and meeting Manager Batten, made representations that he suited in his obtaining $40 on another check. Both checks were found to be forgeries. Booth also attempted to get the clerk at the Southern to cash a check, but failed.

Booth went from here to Marshalltown, Mo., and, under the name of Van Gordon Gray committed three forgeries, won the affections of Miss Trixie Shapcott and eloped with her to Dubuque, where they were married. Sheriff Marshall Count of Marshalltown had a warrant for his arrest and captured him in Dubuque. An hour after his arrest he escaped by leaping from a second-story window of the hotel. He was later arrested in Kansas City, where he had shaved his head to give him the appearance of baldness. Detectives, in looking up his record, learned that he had lived in Indianapolis, and that he had a wife living there.

ESCAPED MARRIAGE BY HAPPY THOUGHT

Man Left Ejectee Who Caught Him After 1000-Mile Chase.

Miss Annie G. McQuarrie, who followed her fleeing fiancé from Wakefield, Mass., to Madison, Ill., and found him there, has lost her lover again. Religious scruples thwarted his plans just as they were about to be realized.

Miss McQuarrie is 29 years old. When she arrived in Madison in search of Bourgeois, who she says left Wakefield a few days before the date set for their wedding, she went to the office of Attorney W. J. Franklin and told him the name of the man for whom she was looking.

"Why, he's up there on a scaffold, painting this building, right now," said Franklin.

"Do tell," exclaimed Miss McQuarrie. "Call him down."

Bourgeois was speechless for a time when he saw Miss McQuarrie. When he found his voice he smiled a sickly smile and said:

"There was a party, after which the couple went to Edwardsville and got a marriage license. They returned to Madison and hunted up Justice Telford. The obliging Justice was about to tie the knot when Bourgeois reminded Miss McQuarrie that they were both Catholics and asked if she didn't think it would be well to have a church ceremony performed."

It was agreed that they be married by Father Murphy at Markon Sunday morning and they left the Justice's office.

Friday morning Attorney Franklin received a message from Miss McQuarrie, saying that Bourgeois had disappeared again, and asking the lawyer to find him.

ACID BURNS DOCTOR.

He Treated His Injuries Before Calling for Help.

With his face and hands covered with carbolic acid, Dr. J. W. Rendelman of 222 Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, gave himself emergency treatment and bandaged his burns before calling outside assistance. His presence of mind and promptness will probably keep him from being disgraced for life.

Dr. Rendelman was in his office Thursday afternoon. He went to a shelf to get a bottle containing a chemical. In reaching for it he upset a large bottle containing pure carbolic acid.

In falling, the bottle broke and the acid splashed in the doctor's face. Instinctively he raised his arms to shield his eyes. In this he succeeded, but the acid burned his hands and ran down his sleeves.

Though in great pain he grabbed a bottle of alcohol and washed his face and hands in it. This, to a great extent, neutralized the effect of the acid. After hurriedly dressing his wounds he called in Dr. Campbell, who is now treating him.

Why the Colonel Smiled.

From the Atlanta Constitution. The old colonel's looking mighty happy these days. Yes, he's got six acres in mind. An interest in an ice factory, and an old Georgia dickerer knows more about that than an old-fashioned mint julep than the best bartender in the country.

This popular and respected jurist, in writing of his remarkable cure, recently said: "Some years ago I commenced to be troubled with a weak side and back, and I suffered intense misery from kidney disease. I consulted a doctor and was under his care for a long time, but he did me no good. I got a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure, and it worked wonders from the start. Continued to use it, and, although eighty-four years of age, in about two months I was in my normal condition, and for the return of my health I thank the Lord and your great medicine. Whenever I hear of anyone having the same trouble I advise them to take Safe Cure, which I am satisfied will cure them."

About five years ago I advised a friend, who was very ill and lame from kidney trouble, to take Safe Cure, which he proceeded to do, and in a short time he was cured. He now writes me that he could not get along without it under any circumstances.—JAMES P. MURPHY, 515 South Joliet street, Joliet, Ill., November 3, 1905.

IMPORTANT TOST-LOUIS

Profit by This and Find Safeguard Against Many Ills.

Nothing is more important to St. Louis than the good health of her people. How can they fill their place in this busy city unless they are well?

No one trouble is responsible for more nervous ill, sleeplessness, general debility, weakness, backaches, rheumatic pains, even ill-temper and peevishness, than indigestion.

Fortunately, a combination of remedies, called Mi-na stomach tablets, has been discovered that absolutely cures indigestion and restores to health and strength the whole digestive system. The use of Mi-na is a safeguard against many ill; it acts directly upon the gastric glands, restores perfect action to the digestive organs, aids the assimilation of food, and so strengthens the whole digestive system that you can eat anything at any time without fear of indigestion.

If you cannot obtain Mi-na of your druggist it will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Sample sufficient to show its value will be forwarded on request. The R. T. Booth Co., Ithaca, N. Y.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch has over ONE-HALF MILLION more readers than any other newspaper west of the Mississippi.

WILL USE REQUEST FOR TRIP TO WALES

Cashier Will Visit Aunt of Main Who Left Fortune to Her.

ATTENTIVE IN ILLNESS

Signed Will an Hour Before He Died of Tuberculosis in Hospital.

Miss Minnie Lueda Vorel, manager of a restaurant at 23 Locust street, will make the first expenditure from the inheritance bequeathed in gratitude to her by William Hanna, chef at the restaurant, in a visit to his aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Hanna of Cardiff, South Wales.

Hanna's will, written an hour before his death Monday in the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, and signed while the death rattle was in his throat, bequeathed to Miss Vorel property and money estimated at $200. Gratitude for Miss Vorel's kindness during his illness with tuberculosis prompted the bequest.

Miss Vorel is small and slender, with brown wavy hair and brown eyes. Sitting in the cashier's stand at the restaurant Friday she wrote a long letter to Mrs. Hanna, the dead man's only living relative, telling of his long sickness and his death, and proposing the visit, which is to be made during the coming summer. Miss Vorel will not leave for Europe until circumstances are such that she can sever her connection with the restaurant. Her plan is to go into business independently.

Worked During Illness.

Hanna was an Englishman by birth. He had been chef in the restaurant four years, and once when Miss Vorel was recovering from an attack of typhoid fever he daily prepared delicacies for her.

Hanna Would Have Been 26 Friday.

For almost a year before Vorel died he knew he had consumption, but he would not give up his work in the restaurant. A month ago he became so feeble that physicians ordered him to a hospital. At his request Miss Vorel went to California to seek a favorable location where he might live. He believed that the change in climate would bring him back to health.

Before the sickness was ended Miss Vorel received a telegram saying Hanna could not live, and she returned to St. Louis. Daily after her return she went to the hospital to read and talk to the dying man, always with some gift of flowers or fruit.

True to Her Friendship.

Physicians warned Miss Vorel that there was danger in her kindness, as might from her frequent visits to the sickroom contract the malady, but she declared that Hanna's previous kindness to her and the strong friendship between them would not permit her to consider the danger. This friendship was platonic, growing out of the business relations between the two.

"Mr. Hanna was a man of the most admirable character," Miss Vorel said Friday, "and the attendants at the hospital were very fond of him and very kind. He never seemed afraid, although he knew at the last that he could not live. When he wrote his will he was dying, and his hand shook so that he could hardly hold the pen to sign it."

"As Mr. Hanna stated in the will, his only reason for leaving what he had to me was that he felt under obligation on account of what I had done. I was practically the only one who had. My plans are rather vague as yet, except as to the trip to England. I have never been across the ocean, and I know I shall enjoy it, aside from the pleasure of knowing Mr. Hanna's aunt."

Miss Vorel is made executrix without bond under the will. She is 22 years old. Hanna would have been 26 Friday.

CINCINNATI MAYOR SCORES CARNEGIE

Regrets That City Accepted His Contributions for New Library.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, April 13.—In accepting the new Walnut Hill branch building of the public library of Cincinnati, Mayor E. J. Dempsey did not once mention the name of Andrew Carnegie, who liberally contributed toward the erection of the handsome edifice. The omission caused a good deal of speculation as to the Mayor's motives.

The other speakers lauded Carnegie with eloquent adjectives, but the Mayor did not refer to him at all. There was some question as to whether it was intentional. He said, when asked about the incident:

"I purposely refrained from any reference to Carnegie because I desired to be perfectly honest in the matter. I have no deep admiration for a man who has made his millions out of the sweat and blood of the toiling classes, but who attempts to atone for the oppression by giving away buildings and thus using himself as a philanthropist. His philanthropy should have been in his workshop, and the workmen should have had the benefit."

"In fact, I am almost inclined to regret that Cincinnati did not pay for the branch libraries, instead of receiving them as charity from a man who could have no real sympathy with a city of which he knew nothing and in which he had no interest."

Snodgrass Memorial Tablet.

The suggestion that the name of Dr. Charles A. Snodgrass, Health Commissioner, who died last week, be placed on a tablet in the Pathological and Laboratory Building of the City Hospital has been made by the Board of Health to its successor, Dr. H. Wheeler Bond. Resolutions of respect will also be adopted at the board's next meeting.

Asks Treatment, Bites Doctor.

Dr. Gble, one of the City Dispensary staff, was bitten on the hand while trying to administer antidote to Bertha Dougherty, a negro, who had swallowed capsules of mercury. The woman had walked from her home, 1010 Locust street, to the dispensary and asked to be treated. She was taken to the City Hospital.

Fell Through Skylight.

Patrick Cunningham, 22 years old, of 1101 South Sixth street, fell through a skylight at Lamp's brewery Thursday afternoon. A siver of glass passed through his left forearm and a piece an inch wide and two inches long broke off in the rupture. It was removed by Dr. C. W. Parker at the South Side dispensary.

SHE KEEPS CHILDREN.

Husband Failed to Prove That Stepson Was Bad.

John T. Wilson, grand president of the International Association of Maintenance and Way Employees, has failed in his attempt to get possession of the two children from his wife, Mrs. Estella V. Wilson, who is suing him for divorce. Evidence was heard Thursday in Judge Douglas' court on the motion of Mr. Wilson for custody of the two small children. It related mainly to the conduct of Mr. Wilson's 13-year-old stepson.

Mr. Wilson alleged that he was a bad boy, who mistreated the smaller children, used bad language in their presence and taught them bad habits. Mrs. Wilson and her witnesses testified that

SCHOOLMA'AMS REVOLT.

Women Oppose Continued Rule of Men Teachers.

A lively campaign to elect a woman to the presidency of the St. Louis Society of Pedagogy is being waged by the women of the organization. They greatly outnumber the men in the society, and can win easily if they stand together. This they have never done in the past, and a man has always been president.

Miss Amelia C. Fruchte and Miss Sarah A. McGuire, the latter principal of Jefferson School, are in the field against W. W. Walters.

W. C. Fordyce Promoted.

William C. Fordyce, son of Col. S. W. Fordyce, has been appointed to the additional vice-presidency recently created by the Board of Directors of the Commonwealth Trust Co. Mr. Fordyce has been assistant to the president of the company. A telegram announcing his appointment was sent Thursday to Mr. Fordyce, who with Vice-President Edwards of the company, is on his way to Durango, Mexico.

RIVER ROBS THE STATE.

Taxes Lost by Submersion of County Farms.

Several farmers of St. Ferdinand Township, St. Louis County, have protested to the County Board of Equalization against having to pay taxes on amphibious farms. The Missouri River has been busy in that section of the county for the past 10 years, and within the last year many acres of land have been carried away by water.

The board has ordered the assessments stricken from 100 acres that have disappeared since the last assessment, as follows: James Thompson, 45 acres; George Carrio, 25 acres; Walter Carrio, 50 acres; Elias C. Carrio, 50 acres.

Searching for Heirs.

Search is being made by Public Administrator Trol for the heirs of Reinhold Hartmann, who was found dead Thursday in his room at 723 Thrush avenue. Hartmann had been separated from his wife for seven or eight years. Two children, aged 15 and 17 years, are thought to be in an institution in St. Louis. His effects consist of a $1200 account by the Mercantile Trust Co., some clothes and a tool chest. The administrator is also looking for Charles Monigel, brother of Frederick Monigel, who was found dead in his room at 208 North Twenty-second street, who left an estate of $1250.

SINGING, STRIKERS QUIT.

Walkout Causes Closing of Steel Foundry.

The American Steel Foundry plant at Granite City closed down Friday because of a strike of 30 of the 200 men employed.

The strikers, who are employed as molders' helpers, jagers' pickers and rammers, walked out early Friday singing songs of their native countries. The molders' helpers demand $1.50 a day instead of $1.25, which they are now receiving; the jagers' pickers want $1.75 instead of $1.65 a day, and the rammers $2 instead of $1.90.

No Hunting for Roosevelt Till His Term Ends.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 12.—In a letter to Col. Cecil Lyon, Republican National Committee-man of Texas, President Roosevelt declares that he will hunt no more while he is President.

Col. Lyon had made arrangements for another wolf hunt in the Kiowa, Coghene and Apache pasture reserve in Southern Oklahoma, and the letter from the President is in answer to one from the Colonel, asking when he would be ready to come.

President Roosevelt says the people make too much sport of going hunting, and that the prevailing opinion that his outings are not in keeping with the dignity of the office has caused him to decide to forego further hunting until his term of office shall expire.

HOW CAPT. HIGHT STUCK TO PILOT WHEEL IN A RIOT

Famous Riverman, Who Died Recently, Refused to Open His Quarters to Mob That Had Seized Every Other Part of Vessel.

THE death at Summerfield, Ill., on March 20, at the age of 75 years, of Washington Hight, a Mississippi River pilot, deserves something more than the brief reference to his demise, which has appeared in the daily papers.

Had he died a quarter of a century ago the press would have devoted a column or two to his life work, while in the palatial homes of our oldest and best citizens there would have been expressions of the deepest and tenderest sympathy—for there are few of our leading citizens who have not made the delightful trip to St. Paul during the past 50 years, when "Wash" was at the wheel.

Gentle in speech, gentle in manners, always a gentleman. That was "Wash" Hight. He was the opposite of the rough, brusque riverman that we read about, so much so as to cause comment from all who met him.

The writer knew him for over half a century as a pilot and made 36 trips with him on the Upper Mississippi. The most memorable trip was on the steamer Dubuque some years ago, during the terrible and fatal riot which lasted from Rock Island, Ill., to Clinton, Mo., and delayed our progress to St. Paul 24 hours.

The cabin was full of St. Louis families of the better class, who usually made the summer trip. The officers were all the pick of the upper river—Capt. Green, commander; "Marsh" Hight and "Bill" King, pilots; Ed Naine, steward, and "Old Bill" Henderson in charge of the bar—for we had bars on the boats in those days.

Some Unruly Passengers.

Unfortunately, we had a deck passenger—a crowd of men en route to the harvest fields of Minnesota, and also many raftsmen, who were returning north. Our crew were negroes.

Capt. Green gave orders not to allow these unruly deck passengers to go upstairs, in order to prevent their patronizing the bar.

It resulted in a murder and a riot. The writer was ill at the time, but was an eye-witness from start to finish. The mob ran the boat all day, from Rock Island, Ill., to Clinton, Mo. They had full charge, save in the pilot house, which, in charge of "Marsh" Hight and "Bill" King, never surrendered, and the occupants never allowed any of the rioters to enter.

Several times they attempted to search the pilot house for the concealed negroes, but each time the cool determined manner of "Wash" Hight prevented.

Acting under his advice the mate aided a negro cabin boy to conceal himself beneath the wheelhouse or rather the pilot house, and to this fact he owed his life.

Another negro deckhand was hidden under a lifeboat on the hurricane deck. Mrs. Dr. Leslie, a prominent lady of St. Louis, saw the negro crawl under the lifeboat, and, in her nervous interest in the life of the poor fellow, unwittingly betrayed him by waking up and down the hurricane deck near the boat.

Rioters Murder Deck Hand.

The rioters, some 50 of them, were not slow to discover his hiding place, and

HARPERS BOOKS

THE SPOILERS

By REX E. BEACH.

This is a story written by a strong man, of a strong man for strong and grownup men to read. It is a tale such as is told by a man perhaps once in a lifetime—a tale of impetuous emotion, of brute strength and courage, of swift and passionate love and hate—a tale which tells itself without fine words—vigorous, forceful, mighty. There is no room for the violet conventions of society in that robust land where

"Never a law of God or man runs north of Fifty-three."

The only law is the law of possession, of individual conscience, and of hunger—the hunger for gold dug out of the hills, and the blinding hunger of man for woman and for woman's love. It is a story of today, but it goes back to the root of things, and is true of all men and all real women since time began.

Keep Your Nerve

It is nerve energy that runs the organs of your body. The storage battery is the nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord, and from this battery nerve force is sent out through the system of nerves. To keep the body healthy you must have plenty of nerve force; if you have not, the organs work imperfectly, the circulation is sluggish, digestion bad, appetite poor, kidneys inactive, and aches, pains and misery are the penalty.

You can keep the system strong with Dr. Miles' Nerve. It assists in generating nerve energy; it strengthens the nerves and makes the whole system strong and vigorous.

"I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Miles' Nerve to those suffering from nervous prostration, insomnia and indigestion. After several months' suffering from above diseases I tried this medicine and found immediate relief. It soothes and strengthens the nerves, chases away the gloomy and depressing thoughts and gives the sufferer renewed strength and hope. It is a superb nerve restorer."

To Men and Women on Salaries:

WHEN you once break a Ten Dollar Bill, it's—"Goodbye, Bill!"

A dollar here and fifty cents there—trinkets—theatre tickets—"trifles light as air"—and in almost no time it dwindles to nickles.

Isn't it really so? And what is there left to show for it!

Now, you can take that same Ten Dollar Bill and with it lay the foundation of a competence and a life income, by buying an American Reserve Gold Bond on installments.

We deliver the Gold Bond to you upon the first payment, and allow you to pay for it at the rate of from $5 to $10 per month, just as you prefer.

The American Reserve Gold Bond yields Semi-Annual Dividends of 5% per annum, and at its maturity is payable in gold coin, together with its apportionment of the Surplus Earnings of the Company.

The American Reserve Bond Co., has assets of over $3,000,000. They are rapidly increasing in value. Its operations are under state supervision and control. It has at the present time on deposit with the State Treasurer of Missouri, One Million Forty One Thousand Eight Hundred and Fifty Dollars. Its funds are invested only in the class of securities prescribed by law.

The advantages of American Reserve Gold Bonds over any other form of investment are the absolute security of the Principal, the high rate of Guaranteed Semi-Annual Dividends plus a Surplus apportionment at maturity, which may largely exceed the amount of guaranteed dividends, as the management of the funds is in the hands of experienced and able financiers.

We have already paid our bondholders over $3,500,000.

The capitalist puts his money in Bonds, because of their security and earning power. No savings bank 3% for him!

The small investor by our plan can invest in the same high class of securities, and his money will earn proportionately large returns.

PREACHER WHIPS "NAGGING" WIFE

She Says a Widow Was Cause of Family Unpleasantness.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 12.—Mrs. S. H. Dull, wife of the Rev. Mr. Dull of the Baptist Church at Gobleville, who was severely beaten by her husband last week, has gone to the home of her brother, George Ackerman, at Brimfield, Ind., to live.

She has engaged attorneys and will bring suit for divorce if the husband does not make provision for the support of herself and child.

The brother said that the couple were married 15 years ago. After three months' acquaintance they met at a revival meeting which Mr. Dull was conducting.

Mr. Dull has written the brother and says that his wife has been nagging him for many months and it reached a point where he could not stand it longer. He says he will take her back if she will promise to be good.

The wife names a widow of Gobleville as being the cause of all their trouble. She says that when her husband would take her out for a ride, the widow would always be invited.

CHURCH ABOLISHES ETERNAL TORMENT

Indiana Presbyterians Vote to Eliminate That Phrase From Their Creed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Forty-three Presbyterian churches of Northern Indiana have decided that the words "eternal torment," which have stood in the Presbyterian creed for 250 years, be stricken out.

The ministers who were present favored the substitution of the word "destruction" for "eternal torment," declaring the latter phrase to be unauthorized by the Bible, and that its use retards the growth of the church.

This revolutionary action was taken at the meeting of presbytery at Valparaiso, Ind.

Preliminary Expense.

From the Philadelphia Press.

"You've presented your wife a silk gown. I hear," said Basil.

"Yes," replied Basil.

How to Exercise the Bowels

Your intestines are lined inside with millions of little suckers, that draw the Nutrition out of food as it passes them.
But, if the food passes too slowly, it decays before it gets through. Then the little suckers draw Poison from it instead of Nutrition.
This Poison makes a Gas that injures your system more than the food should have nourished it.
You see, the food is Nourishment or Poison, just according to how long it stays in transit.

MY CASCARET POCKET

The usual remedy for this delayed passage (called Constipation) is to take a big dose of Castor Oil.
This merely makes the passage for unloading the current cargo.
It does not help the Cause of delay
a trifle.
It does slacken the Bowel-Muscles more than ever, and thus weaken them for their next task.
Another remedy is to take a strong Cathartic, like Salts, Calomel, Jalap, Phosphate of Sodium, Aperiens Water, or any of these mixed.
What does the Cathartic do?
It merely flushes-out the Bowels with a waste of Digestive Juices, set flowing into the Intestines through the tiny suckers.

But, the Digestive Juices we waste in doing this today is needed for tomorrow's natural Digestion. We cannot afford to lose it.
That's why Cascarets are the only safe medicine for the bowels.

They do not waste any precious fluid of the bowels, as Cathartics do.
They do not relax the Intestines by greasing them inside like Castor Oil or Glycerine.
They simply stimulate the Bowel Muscles to do their work naturally, comfortably and 'nutritiously'.
And, the Exercise these Bowel Muscles are thus forced to take, makes them stronger for the future, just as Exercise makes your arm stronger.

MY WATCH POCKET

Cascarets are no safe to use constantly as they are pleasant to take.
They are purposely put up like candy, so you must eat them slowly and let them go down gradually with the saliva, which is in itself a fine, natural Digestive.
They are put up purposely in thin, flat, round-cornered Enamel boxes, so they can be carried in a man's vest pocket, or in a woman's purse, all the time, without bulk or trouble.
Price 10c a box at all druggists.
Be very careful to get the genuine,
made only by the 'Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

FREE TO OUR FRIENDS!
We want to send to our friends a beautiful
French-designed, GOLD-PLATED BOMBON
BOX, hand-manufactured in colors. It is a beauty for the dressing table. Ten cents in stamps is asked as a measure of good faith and to cious treat is loaded.

RAIL OF ASHES ON NAPLES GREATER;

ness is in striking contrast with the feverish activity everywhere here today. The hours, even the minutes, seem too short for what must be done. The people rush, here and there, horses gallop about, and even the dogs and cats seem to be infected with the general spirit of "hustle."

AMERICAN AUTHOR
DESCRIBES ERUPTION.

NAPLES, April 12.—Robert Underwood Johnson, associate editor of the Century Magazine, who is on the field, has written the following description of the eruption for the Associated Press:
"I had the unexpected opportunity to realize the magnitude of the disaster by personal observation in a trip entirely around Vesuvius.
"Since the Chicago fire I have seen nothing so terribly impressive. Twenty years will not repair the damage.
Including the destruction of four whole villages. Arriving from Rome two hours late by train, I joined a party of two Italian gentlemen and two English ladies, including Miss Underwood, the Rome correspondent of the London Standard.

Relic to Stop Lava.
"We reached the lava at a picturesque, cypress-planted cemetery on the northern boundary of Torre An-nunziata. It was as if the dead had effectually cried out to arrest the crushing river of flames which pitilessly engulfed the statue of St. Anne, with which the people of Bosco Reale tried to stay it, as at Canina, the volcano of St. Agathe is said to have stayed a similar stream from Mount Etna.

"We climbed the lava. It was cool above, but still alive with fire below. We could see dimly the extent of the destruction beyond the barrier of brown which had closed the streets, torn down the houses, invaded the vineyards and broken Cook's railway.

Ashes Crush Structures.
"A better idea of the surroundings was obtained at dawn from the railway.
We saw north what was left of Bosco Trecase, a great stone church and a few houses inlaid in a sea of dark-brown lava. North and east rose a thousand patches of blue smoke, like swamp mists. All was dull and desolate slag, with nowhere the familiar serpentine forms of old lava streams. In terrible contrast with the volcanic evidence were strong cypresses and blooming camellias in a neighborhood cemetery.

Exquisite Curves.
"We ate a hasty luncheon before sunrise, when the great beauty of the scene was revealed. The column now seemed higher and more imposing. To three times the height of Vesuvius. Each portion had a concentric motion and new aspects.

The southern edges floating toward the sea, and the exquisite curved surfaces, due to the moving current. It was like the decoration of the side of a volcano. The lava, which was hanging over Naples and hides the volcano, count my fortune to have seen all day from toward the spectacle of the porphyry, undiminished beauty. My companions departed for Naples, after driving to Pompeii.

After three hours' sleep, I went to the excavations, expected to find Naples by the afternoon train, but here I met E. A. Bowen of New York, who gave such an interesting account of his experience on the train coming through Monday in the morning. He said that Greci, that I concluded to return by the north, first visiting the eastern wedge of destruction, which was central at San Giuseppe.

Lava Blocks Way.

"With Mr. Brown I left Pompeii in a car, expecting to strike the edge of the lava. What was my surprise to find the new lava at San Giuseppe. Four towns here were destroyed in different ways, namely, by rain, cinders and ashes, which could not be skirted, for they lay everywhere in a mass which had broken nearly every roof within an area of 35 miles by 10. From the lava, which was moving several feet a minute, we had no difficulty escaping.

Chocolate-milk-Lait Color.
"Fancy a rich and thickly populated country of vineyards lying under three to six inches of ashes and cinders of the color of chocolate with milk, while above to the west the volcano in full activity is distributing to the outer edges of the circle the same fate, and you will get an idea of the desolate impression of the scene, a tragedy colossal and heartrending. Like that of Calabria, it enlists the sympathy of the civilized world. It takes time for such a calamity to be realized.

The King, the Duke of Aosta and Prætor Bonino have been on the ground. For the present the roads are almost impassable even for automobiles.

Shovel Ashes From Roofs.
"To miles below San Giuseppe we struck cinders which the soldiers were shoveling, making a narrow road for the refugees. Our wagon driver begged off from completing his contract to take us to San Giuseppe. We had not the heart to insist, so the rest of the journey to the railway at Palma, eight miles, was made laboriously on foot for three hours through sliding cinders.

In many places temporary shelters had been built by the roadside, like children's playhouses. Here women were huddled with their bedding, awaiting the coming of supplies, while the army had begun to distribute. The men were largely occupied with shoveling cinders from the stronger roofs and floors into heaps three to six feet deep along the roadside. Many two-wheeled carts loaded with salvage drawn by donkeys or pushed by peasants were with bundles on their heads or carrying poultry.

Shrouded Cornices.
"In the square of San Giuseppe was an encampment of soldiers, with low tents. Near a destroyed church, in coarse yellow linen shrouds, were the bodies of 33 of the 116 persons who there lost their lives. The peasants were sad, uncomplaining. In fact, for so exposed a people, they were wonderfully calm. As evidence of the thrift and self-respect of these, we were once asked for alms during the afternoon.

At Palma, where we succeeded in catching a train for Naples, we heard great cheering, looked back, and saw the General commanding the district had arrived, and the people were running to greet their representative of the Government's active assistance to the stricken region.
"The second terrible disaster for Southern Italy in a few months. To judge from what I learned from the peasants, the people likely to be a substantial increase in emigration to the United States by reason of this calamity, of which the end is not yet."

GORKY ACCUSES FATHER GAPON OF TREACHERY

Sold Out to the Government for 219,000 Roubles, He Says.

PRAISES JEWS' COURAGE

Declares They Evincd Superhuman Bravery in Struggle for Freedom.

WEEPS AT GRANT TOMB

"America a Free, Beautiful and Happy Country," He Exclaims.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Maxim Gorky made it clear yesterday that he was not only an irrepressible foe of the Russian bureaucracy, but a merciless critic of such as he regarded false friends of the Russian people.

Speaking of Father Gapon, he said: "He is an adventurer. He was accidentally advanced by a popular wave. He is a demagogue. He is warm-hearted and possessed of magnetism, but is not a man of strong intellectuality. I know Gapon well."

"You must understand the psychology of the situation. Gapon was not a leader by his own volition. He was with the workmen and was pushed to their front."

Following the events of Red Sunday, Gorky said, Gapon told him he had not anticipated what had happened. He begged to be sent away, and it was as a result that the priest disappeared from public view. Subsequently, Gorky declares, Gapon accepted from the Government in several installments the sum of 219,000 roubles as his price for securing the support of the workmen for the Government.

"His treachery," said Gorky, "was no surprise. He was obviously of the type that could be expected to sacrifice the interests of the people for his own benefit whenever the opportunity should arise. He was a man of that caliber."

Gorky yesterday issued an address to the Jewish population of this city in which he said the future historian of Russia would devote some of his most thrilling pages to the Jews. He said that in the Russian struggle for liberty, and that there was little anti-Semitic sentiment in Russia. All that had existed had been spread and encouraged by the Government itself.

When Mark Twain and William Dean Howells emerged from Maxim Gorky's rooms at the Hotel Bellevue, the famous humorist smiled tolerantly. As the newspapermen gathered about them in the hotel office, Mr. Howells edged away as though he hoped to slip out unperceived.

"Howells," said Mark Twain, "you don't look as though you had information, so he is a good man and come back here a minute."

Mr. Howells returned. Mark Twain assumed a confidential air.

"Now, as I understand it," he said, "we are talking privately—so it will get into print. Certain of us are getting up a dinner to be held two weeks hence, of purely literary persons, in honor of Mr. Gorky, and in recognition of his eminent position in the literary world. And, by the way, Howells, we forgot to speak to him about it, didn't we? Well, Robert Cullier knows more about it than we do—perhaps we're telling his secret."

Just then a guest of the hotel, who had recognized the humorist, rushed up, and shaking Mr. Clemens by the hand, said: "I've read all your books from beginning to end."

Twain's Little Jest.

"Then you have, indeed, had a liberal education," said Mark Twain, with a twinkling eye.

The humorist-revolutionist denied that he and Mr. Howells had been arranging all the details of the freeing of Russia. "Didn't even speak of it," he declared.

Mr. Howells said of Gorky: "He is a great, strong man, like a book, and what better can one say of any one?"

Mr. Gorky was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy M. Scott last evening at the circus. The Scotts and Robert Hunter had dined with the Russian in his room at the hotel.

Physician and His Wife, Enthusiastic Balloonists, Who Plan Entertainments Above the Clouds

NEW YORK, April 12.—After her balloon voyage, Mrs. Julian P. Thomas is resting from the fatigue and excitement of the previous day. If it were possible, she was more enthusiastic today than she was at the conclusion of her voyage above the clouds.

"Nerves" and this courageous young woman are strangers. She chatted about her first ascension as one would over a first ride in an automobile, and even had fewer "seasick" accidents to tell than the neophyte motorist has.

Mrs. Thomas is now looking forward to frequent trips in the big balloon which is being made in Paris to Dr. Thomas' orders. It is expected to arrive in New York about May 1. In due time Dr. and Mrs. Thomas expect to invite their friends to a ride in the five persons—to take a sail in the upper air, as it were, or others offer a ride in a brougham or a seat on a road coach.

The most interesting thing about the trip, said Mrs. Thomas in relating her adventures, was the different kinds of weather we had. When we started the sky was overcast. We went up, up, up, being in a heavy white mist. It was like looking down from a high mountain. Mr. Levee and myself, and the car and the basket, were all visible. There was nothing else to see. The sensation was weird and thrilling.

Climbed Into Rigging.

"This was the time when Mr. Levee climbed up on the edge of the basket and up into the rigging to disentangle the ropes. I did not feel alarmed then, except for Mr. Levee. It did seem risky. What a fall would have been for him! Then there was nothing by which to judge distance and convey the impression that to fall would be a frightful thing."

Then we got above the clouds. There were clouds above us and clouds below. All about were clouds at a distance. They looked like huge mountains of snow far away. I could see level white, like a sheet extending as far as the eye reached. From the mountains of snow far away I could see level white, like a sheet extending as far as the eye reached. From the mountains of snow far away I could see level white, like a sheet extending as far as the eye reached.

Now the sun broke through the clouds and below them, and after a time came out into clear weather, with the sun shining upon us. Finally we landed in a heavy rain.

"Think of finding all these kinds of weather in a brief three hours! We were fortunate in this respect, and I think it is the most wonderful feature of a trip full of wonders. Mr. Levee, who has made many ascensions, told me that this experience was very rare. For instance, on a clear and almost cloudless day, you would see the blue sky above and the earth below, and nothing else."

There was a moment when the balloon was in some danger. Soon after we left Pittsfield we approached a mountain and the chill wind from the snow cooled the gas bag so that we began to drop. If they had not thrown out ballast quickly, we would have bumped against the mountain and our voyage would have been quickly ended. But I was not afraid. Indeed, it seemed to me that the side of a mountain would have been the safest place to land.

"As it was, when we came down, the car bumped against the tops of trees 50 feet high and a fall would have been unpleasant. I did not see much of our landing, for I was protecting my face from being scratched by twigs. But in a short time the car and gas bag were flat on the ground, with hardly a bump, and we were rolled out on the grass like dice from a box. Mr. Levee is wonderfully clever, as that landing showed."

TWO AERO CLUBS TO HOLD BALLOON RACE.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, April 12.—William Mattery, aeronaut and a prominent promoter of the Chicago Aero Club, will leave for New York Saturday, where he will engage in a 24-hour race in a hydrogen balloon with whomsoever is selected to represent the New York Aero Club.

Mattery is confident he will win time to time huge blackish balls roll away—other waves of clouds.

Now the sun broke through the clouds above us and painted the scene like a picture. I could see level white, like a sheet extending as far as the eye reached. From the mountains of snow far away I could see level white, like a sheet extending as far as the eye reached.

"I never will forget it. It was grand."

CUPID IS NOT ALARMED.

Marriage Licenses Issued Good Friday, the 13th.

The fact that it was Good Friday and the thirteenth day of the month was not sufficient to keep Cupid from his work and Jesse W. Hubbard of 305 Walnut street and Margaret Rose of 208 Cleveland avenue got a marriage license Friday. So did W. K. Maples and Lilian E. Cannon, both of Springfield, Mo.

Boy Fell and Broke Leg.

While "walking joints" in the half-completed building of the Hyde Park Brewery, Twentieth and Salisbury streets, Robert Henry, 8 years old, fell into the cellar and left leg was broken between the knee. He was carried to the hospital, where Dr. Carl Otto of 1437 Penrose street attended him. His injury is not regarded as serious.

A MILK DIET Not So Good As a Better.

A merchant in a thriving interior town writes:

"I can recommend Grape-Nuts food to all, whether well or sick, as a preventive of, or a cure for many ailments."

"For about six years I was unable to be in the store much of the time. I was suffering from gastritis and constipation, which confined me to the home part of the time and at last put me to bed and kept me there for almost a year. I ran down in weight from 150 to 85 pounds, trying to live on a milk diet. But I could seldom retain that, nor anything else of any account, on my stomach."

The doctors finally gave me up; then a friend advised me to change my food and use Grape-Nuts food and Postum Food coffee. I followed his advice and watched results.

"I commenced to get well at once, and in the first eight months I gained about 40 pounds. The gastritis and constipation left me in a very short time, and in the six years that have followed I have enjoyed the best of health and attend regularly to my business. I eat Grape-Nuts every day, and usually make my entire breakfast off a few teaspoonfuls of it and a cup or two of Postum Food coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Smoot's Life Blameless.

Mr. Worthington pointed out that Mr. Smoot's life had been blameless and that he is a law-abider in every sense of the word.

It was contended by Mr. Worthington that plural marriages are no longer performed with sanction of the Mormon Church. He said that Utah had been "raked and scraped," and that plural marriages brought to light since the manifesto would not amount to one a year, and that these offenders are now virtually fugitives from justice.

Taking up Mr. Smoot's declaration that he believed in divine revelations, Mr. Worthington compared this belief with services in other churches where divine guidance is sought, and argued that Mr. Smoot's belief is the same as that of followers of other creeds.

Knox Questions Him.

Senator Knox and some other members of the committee interrogated Mr. Worthington concerning the alleged necessity of members of the Mormon Church to obtain consent of the church to become candidates for public office.

Mr. Worthington read from the church rule laid down in the Moses Thatcher case, and construed this to mean that if a high church official desires to become a candidate for public office it is necessary for him to resign his church office or be excused from duties in connection with the church position if it conflicts with duties to the public.

It was argued by Mr. Worthington that everything that has been charged against the Mormon church in the way of activity in politics and business was known when Utah was admitted as a State and that one of the first steps taken by the Mormon people was to renounce all such activities.

Witnesses who attempted to testify concerning the endowment, house consecration, and other matters, were characterized by Mr. Worthington as disreputable. He closed at 12:05 o'clock. Chairman Burrows inquired when counsel would be ready with the testimony. Both Messrs. Worthington and Carlisle are going to leave the city and the printed arguments cannot be finished before the middle of next week. It is expected a date for a vote on the case will be fixed by the committee soon afterward.

For the first time since the proceedings were begun, three years ago, Mrs. Smoot attended the session of the committee. The number of spectators was much less than during the Utah Senator's arraignment.

In opening Mr. Worthington took up the subject of Mr. Smoot's qualifications to serve as a Senator and followed this by citing authorities in support of his contention that it requires a two-thirds vote of the Senate to oust Mr. Smoot.

Answering Mr. Carlisle's argument that Utah might go so far as to send President Joseph F. Smith to the Senate, Mr. Worthington said that if such should be the case he should be permitted to serve if he gave up his plural wife and lived only with his legal wife. In the event that Smith should fail to live in obedience to the laws, said Mr. Worthington, then he should be expelled.

SOCIALISM IN AMERICA

What It Means.

In response to a recent editorial, "Socialism in America," the Post-Dispatch has received many letters, one of which is the following:

A Clear Statement.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I AM a Socialist, believing in and working for Socialism, because I know it is the only system under which every man, woman and child shall be accorded true justice, and is therefore the only system which is truly practical in a proper sense.

Socialists recognize the brotherhood of man. They say that the earth and the fullness thereof is for all humanity, that no individual or group of individuals has any right to gain private possession of that upon which all humanity depends; that all natural resources, together with the means of production and distribution—that is, the mighty machinery and transportation facilities by which the necessities of life are produced and distributed—shall be owned and operated by the people through the government, in order that all people shall enjoy the full benefit of civilization. This shall make graft impossible, for all citizens having an individual share in the property thus owned, shall operate said property for the benefit of all concerned.

Private profit shall be eliminated, so all workers shall receive full compensation for their labor and all commodities shall be procurable at cost.

All work shall be done in a scientific manner on a gigantic scale, with the use of the most perfect labor-saving machinery. The tremendous waste of labor under the present system, which results in the loss of billions of dollars every year, shall be stopped, and those so employed shall become useful, wealth-producing members of society.

The government shall insure its members against want during sickness or old age; so there shall be no incentive to hoard, and all shall be free from want or the fear of want.

Men and women shall be accorded equal rights. They shall have full franchise industrially as well as politically. For instance, the workers in each department of industry shall say under what conditions they are to work; they shall elect their own foremen, superintendents, etc., according to merit.

It shall indeed be a Government "of, by and for the people." Through Government ownership of the great labor-saving machinery, the people shall derive the full benefit obtainable from their use; the hours of toil shall be reduced, and at the same time the wealth of all shall be increased.

The incentive for invention shall be increased a thousand fold, for with every improvement of present machinery and invention of better machinery shall come a corresponding improvement to the people. In this manner the "dirty work problem" shall be solved. Machines shall do it for us.

Child labor shall be abolished. Children shall be entitled to the best education, which shall include whatever profession or craft they may wish to follow. This shall result in a happier and more progressive race of people. They shall be well-developed, both mentally and physically.

Life shall not be one continual struggle for existence. All people shall have time and opportunity to develop the best that is within them. All shall have time for travel, music, art—everything which elevates mankind.

True love shall then be the only incentive for marriage, and that alone shall guarantee the purity and security of the home.

The immorality of uniting in marriage for title, wealth, position or a home shall be evil of the past, as shall also the running of dens of vice, the slums, child labor, the corruption of public officials, the adulteration of food, milk, etc., all of which is done for profit—the great incentive of capitalism.

The profit system is the very foundation of capitalism and is the source of the wrongs which afflict humanity, but the source of wrong shall be o'erthrown. And our incentives then shall be the welfare of the home and of our fellow-men.

THESE FOR THE WOMEN.

A New Beauty Bath.
ARE you taking soda water baths? Is the question which women are asking one another most just now. The soda bath, according to the New York Sun, is declared to be a specific for rheumatism, besides rendering the skin soft and supple and the bather beautiful.

Women have tried in turn the permeated bath, the mud bath and the medicinal bath, but no other bath has ever met with the same favor as the soda bath. It is said to come from Europe, and the method of procedure is as follows: One pound of washing soda is added to a tub of hot water, and the patient must lie in this for 15 minutes. Then follows the cold spray and the bather emerges with every trace of her aches and pains dispelled like magic and her skin glowing like the sky at sunrise.

What a Woman Can Do.
They sat in the cafe of their club, sipping tall glasses of aerated water, and looking languidly over the fashion magazines.

"I can!"
The speaker's voice rang sharp and clear in the silence of the room.
"I can read my husband like a book."
She emptied her glass and added, smiling grimly:
"And shut him up like one, too."

Getting Around Her.
"No," snapped the woman with the square chin, "I don't want no burglar alarms."

"Then the lady next door was right, I suppose," rejoined the agent as he turned to go.

"What did she say?" queried the square-chinned female, somewhat eagerly.
"Oh, she didn't say very much," answered the agent. "After purchasing two of the alarms she said it would be waste of time to stop here, as you had nothing worth stealing."
"The impudent thing!" exclaimed the other, indignantly. "Here, give me half a dozen of them alarms."—Chicago News.

Uses for Old Gloves.
Old gloves should not be thrown away as soon as they are discarded, for they are still useful in a number of ways after they are no longer fit for wear in the street. Probably everybody understands their value as a protection for the hands in cleaning a bicycle, and most persons have a few glove fingers laid away in reserve for use in case the hand is injured, but bits of glove skin may be utilized in many fashions.

They are excellent for applying dressing to kid shoes, for making watch cases and pen wipers and for tying over the tops of bottles in traveling to keep the stopper secure. Suspensives may be mended with kid; spectacles, jewelry and the finger nails polished with it. Bits may be cut from the clean part of the wrist of mousetrap gloves, these strips to be neatly stitched upon the edge of the collar, cuffs and belt of a tailor-made gown as an appropriate finish, says Woman's Life. There is material enough in the arms of long evening gloves to make pretty little shoes for infants.

Pies.
Snow Pie—Wet two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch in cold water as for making starch. Four over it a pint of boiling water until it becomes as thick as jelly. Add to the starch one cup of sugar, keeping the mixture on the stove and stirring constantly. Then add the white of one well-beaten egg and one tablespoonful of lemon juice. Make a rich pastry crust as for custard pie. Bake, then pour in the mixture. Set in a cool place until ready to serve.

Potato Pie—Boil and mash through a colander four good-sized sweet potatoes. Add to them a lump of butter the size of a walnut, half a teaspoonful of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of essence of lemon and four eggs. Beat all together until very light. To these ingredients add one pint of rich milk. Bake in pie plates lined with a puff paste without a top crust. This mixture makes two small pies.

Lemon Pie—Grate the rind and pulp of two lemons. Peel and grate two good-sized cooking apples. Add to these four well-beaten eggs and three cups of sugar. This will make three medium-sized pies. Bake with upper and under crust.

Marlbrough Pie—Stew and strain

through a colander the required number of apples, and to them add six tablespoonfuls each of cream, sugar and sherry wine and four tablespoonfuls of butter, one lemon and four eggs. This makes one deep pie. The top meringue is made with the whites of two eggs and one tablespoonful of powdered sugar beaten stiff.

Lenten Pie—One-half cupful of stoned and chopped raisins, one cupful of rolled cracked cornmeal, two cupfuls of chopped apples, one-half cupful of brown sugar, a very little powdered cinnamon, cloves or mace and one-half cupful of cider. Bake in a short crust. The pie may be served hot or cold.

Tips to Flower-Lovers.

If you want chrysanthemums next fall, start new plants now, says Eben Rexford in Outing. Very soon after the old plants are brought from the cellar, sprouts will appear all over the surface of the soil. When these are about two inches tall, cut them away from the old plants in such a manner that each has a bit of root attached. Put these into small pots of rich soil. Keep them well watered, but do not give much heat or they will make a splendid growth. Be on the lookout for aphids. If any are discovered make an infusion of the ordinary soap of household use, and spray the plants well with it. This is important, as the insects will seriously injure the young plants at this stage of their existence. To make the soap infusion, shave half a five-cent cake finely, pour water over it, and put it in a warm place until it becomes liquid. Then add to it five or six quarts of water and apply.

Gladiolus and tuberous begonias should be started into growth now. If the tubers were kept in pots over winter, shake them out of the old soil and spread them out on a piece of old carpet or moss, which should be kept warm and moist, and leave them there until they sprout. As soon as sprouts appear, put them into pots of rich loam. A few roots of dahlias can be potted and started into growth now, if you want some very early flowers. But the bulk of them I would hold in reserve for warm weather planting in the garden. Do not break apart those you start now, but pot the entire bunch of roots. When the time comes to put the plants out, each root that has a sprout attached can be broken off and made an independent plant of.

Here's a New One—"Tree Dentistry."

The New Orleans Park Board has evolved a new idea and a valuable one called "tree dentistry." This sounds as though the trees had their teeth filled, but the exact facts are that they have their trunks packed. The question arose last year as to what would be done to preserve the great oaks at Audobon Park, which were losing their growth and verdure by reason of big holes in their trunks. It was decided to fill the apertures with cement. The operations were attended with remarkable success. Sickly old oaks regained their strength, decay was stopped, new branches began to grow, and altogether they put on signs of renewed life.

The art of "arboreal dentistry" has since then been perfected to such an extent that even a new bark can be given to a tree, and perhaps later to the dog.

Builders are finding out that cement may be used for almost anything, but it will be news to gardeners that trees' teeth may be filled with it. If your favorite tree is fading away with a cavity in its trunk, where dampness and insects gather, it should be attended to at once.

Employing his former "boss" as bartender is the charge on which Excise Commissioner Mulvihill will try Henry Ziemann, proprietor of a saloon at 184 Franklin avenue, next Wednesday. The dramshop laws forbid the employment in a saloon of a former proprietor whose license has been withdrawn for infractions of the statute.

ROOSEVELT CAN'T SAVE INSANE GIRL

Intercedes for Young Lady Brought From Russia for Treatment, but Immigration Authorities Say a Principle Is Involved and They Will Deport Her.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 13.—Even President Roosevelt cannot swing enough influence to get a denigrated girl through Ellis Island. That is why Fanny Diner, a sad-faced girl of 20, sister of Jacob Diner, a prosperous druggist, will be deported to Russia on Sunday, after a contest in which powerful influences, including the aid of President Roosevelt, were invoked in her behalf.

Jacob Diner came to this country from Berlin 15 years ago, after the death of his father. His mother and three younger children, including Fannie, went to Odessa to live with relatives. A disappointment in love upset Fanny's mind and she fell a victim to melancholia two years ago. With careful medical treatment she improved, and it was planned that the family should come to America to live with her.

Early last summer, as they were about to start, the revolution in Odessa broke out. While they hid there the house was pillaged and set on fire. Then it was found that Fanny's mind was in a worse state than ever. Her recovery, under the care of specialists, was slow, and it was decided to bring her to America and give her the best possible treatment.

Girl Adjudged Insane.
When Jacob Diner met his mother and the children on their arrival three weeks ago he found his sister deeply depressed. He had prepared to have her taken to a hospital, but the officials at the Barge Office refused to let her land. She was sent, despite Diner's protests, to the Marine Hospital on Ellis Island, and there adjudged insane.

Diner has influential friends, and he immediately set to work to save his

Father Finally Gets Missive From Civil War Soldier, Long Dead.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
STOUGHTON, Mass., April 13.—"It is as though my boy had spoken to me from the grave."
These are the words Eliza Hawes, who is nearly 80 years of age, repeats as he reads and reads over again a letter he has just received through the dead-letter office, from his son, who died in Virginia during the Civil War. The letter was written 45 years ago.

Where the letter has been during all these years and why it did not reach him sooner is a mystery to Hawes and his friends.

The young man was killed at the age of 22 by lightning after being at the front about six months. He enlisted in Massachusetts. The letter was the last one he had written to his family. With it came a Randolph paper of the same date.

The boy was a great favorite of his father and his death was a grief from which Hawes has never recovered. "I can't realize," says Mr. Hawes, "that the boy who wrote the letter would be 45 years old and a Civil War veteran if he had lived."

The letter is a boyish one, giving details about the long marches, and is full of messages for family and friends. Hawes is a widower and lives with his granddaughter.

FLAMES WRECK REFINING PLANT

Loss of $10,000 to Robert B. Brown Oil Company's refinery.

Fire in the Robert B. Brown Oil Co.'s refining plant at 280-9-11 Papin street wrecked the front part of the building at 5:45 a. m. Friday and damaged the building and contents $10,000, as estimated by Assistant Fire Chief Barry. The plant is used exclusively to refine crude cotton seed oil. The exterior of six barrels containing cotton seed oil near the front of the building caught fire but the flames were extinguished before the oil was ignited. Superintendent Savage estimates the stock on hand in the building at $15,000 to $20,000. The fire started in the pumproom of the cooling room and is supposed by John Savage, superintendent of the plant, to have originated from spontaneous combustion in a pile of oil-soaked sacks used in transporting cotton seed. No fire is allowed in the building and steam from the pumps comes from a boiler a block away from the refinery. The fire was discovered by Watchman Patrick Dugan, who had just returned from the company's building at Ohio avenue and Papin street. Calling to some men across the street to turn in an alarm, Dugan began fighting the fire with a small hose. The oil-soaked woodwork burned too fiercely and he was driven from the building by smoke and flames. Firemen kept the flames from spreading to the cooling room or to the large tanks on the second floor.

ASKS MERCY FROM MAN WHOSE LIFE SECRET SHE BARED

Mother of Homer Hawkins, Charged With Attempt to Blackmail Adopted Son of a Millionaire, Pleads That Prosecution Be Dropped—Bail Reduced, Hearing Adjourned.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 13.—It is probable that Homer Hawkins, who is supposed to be the grandson of Dr. Frank Fuller, may escape punishment for attempting to blackmail Louis R. Fuller. The exposure of the Fuller mystery, wherein the handsome young Harvard graduate and society man was revealed as only an adopted child, has almost forced the Fuller family to seek relief from publicity at any price.

Young Fuller appeared in court at the adjourned session, prepared to prosecute Hawkins bitterly. Again and again the mother of Hawkins begged him to let up on her son. Fuller stood firm. A few questions put to him by Hawkins' lawyer, however, brought him up quickly, for they showed a determination on the part of the Hawkins contingent to lay bare the mystery of the young man's birth. An adjournment was asked and consent quickly given that the bond of $2500 should be reduced to $500.

In view of the extraordinary situation in which Fuller finds himself, a damper has been thrown over the joyful plans for his wedding, which was announced for a week from next Wednesday, to the beautiful daughter of George Rowbotham of Dorchester, Mass. An instance of the ceaseless will which Dr. Fuller has maintained for 27 years to guard the secret of his adoption and the identity of the woman whose mother was told today by one of the two or three persons who alone knew the secret.

Secret Closely Guarded.
The young man was supposed to be the son of Dr. Fuller. A few knew he was adopted by Fuller when 3 months old, but only four persons knew that his mother was a social friend of the Fuller family, who had parted with her baby when she was only 15 years of age.

According to the narrator, Mr. Rowbotham had received several mysterious telephone messages. This fact was communicated to Dr. Fuller. On the occasion of Louis Fuller leaving Harvard last June, Dr. Fuller and his wife went to Cambridge. Miss Rowbotham, young Fuller's fiancée, and members of her family were present at many of the functions which were planned for the visit of the Fullers. They journeyed to Boston with Dr. Fuller and his wife and a third woman. She was introduced as their friend.

This woman was the mother of Louis Fuller. As a girl of 16, in 1878, she had surrendered her 3-month-old baby to the Fullers for adoption. If it had happened that the telephone messages to Mr. Rowbotham concerned the Fuller family secret, Dr. Fuller was prepared to present to Mr. Rowbotham as the mother of Louis Fuller.

After Magistrate Whitman had read the complaint charging Hawkins with attempting to extort $500 by blackmail, Fuller was asked by Lawyer Price, counsel for Hawkins.

Faces His Accuser.

"Do you know this defendant?" Fuller faced about squarely, gazed at Hawkins a moment, and nodded.

"Do you know if the defendant is the grandson of Dr. Frank Fuller?"

"I do not," Fuller answered, in so low a voice that Magistrate Whitman could scarcely hear him.

"Have you been informed that Hawkins is a grandson of Dr. Fuller?"

A. P. Gottbold, counsel for Fuller, protested, but the Magistrate ruled it was a proper question.

"About a year or so ago," said Fuller, "I was informed by Dr. Fuller that a certain woman had a young man with her whom she claimed as Dr. Fuller's grandson."

"Where were you born?"

Fuller's face became white with suppressed emotion. His lawyer set up a vigorous protest.

"I don't think that question is necessary," said Magistrate Whitman.

"But I want to know that up. Your Honor," said Price. "If the young man doesn't answer, I shall bring Dr. Fuller into court. Suppose this young man's name is not Fuller?"

Fuller's lawyer immediately asked for an adjournment and this was granted.

FIANCEE'S FATHER EXONERATES FULLER.

BOSTON, April 13.—The revelations concerning the birth and rearing of Louis R. Fuller will not in the least affect the wedding plans of his Boston fiancée, according to her father, George B. Rowbotham of 111 Ocean avenue, Dorchester.

Mr. Rowbotham said today that he had long ago looked into the affairs and character of Louis R. Fuller, and he had found nothing in them to encourage a belief that he would be an unfit husband for his daughter. He added that the plans for the wedding will be carried out.

Mr. Rowbotham is president of the Bay State Belting Co. of this city.

TO WORKHOUSE FOR DOG.

McNulty's Only Regret Is That He Can't See Pet.

"If I could get to see that little dog I would gladly serve two years in the Penitentiary," said John McNulty, when a jury in Judge Kinsey's court found him guilty of assault to kill Sam Creveling and fixed his punishment at a year in the Workhouse.

"I have no kith or kin, and that little dog was the only friend and companion I had," McNulty told Judge Kinsey.

The dog, which was the innocent cause of McNulty's trouble, was not in court.

McNulty said that before going to New Orleans last winter he gave the animal to Creveling to keep for him. When McNulty came to St. Louis, March 8, he said he went to Creveling's saloon at 22 North Tenth street, and demanded the dog. He said he was thrown from the saloon and was later attacked.

He afterwards got a revolver and returned to make further inquiries about the dog. He drew the revolver, and Creveling ran up Olive street. McNulty, who walks with a crutch, followed. At times he stopped, rested the revolver, and Creveling, who was armed with a knife, only one shot took effect and that inflicted a slight wound in Creveling's head.

FREE WATER CAMPAIGN.

East Side Ministers Want Fountains Provided.

The ministers of East St. Louis will endeavor to have public drinking fountains placed at convenient places throughout the city. A committee of ministers will be appointed at the next meeting of the Ministerial Association to call upon Mayor Cook and request that fountains for man and beast be installed before hot weather.

Rev. Adam Pawcett, pastor of the First Baptist Church, has announced that he will preach a special sermon on the need of drinking fountains next Sunday, as one of his series of sermons on "The Ten Plagues of East St. Louis."

He says that the lack of public drinking places in summer is one of the greatest plagues of East St. Louis.

Rev. D. D. Archibald, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, a leader in the movement for fountains, points to the fact that the only public place in the city where man or beast can get a drink is in a saloon or in front of a saloon. Nearly every saloon has a water trough in front, but he says that before horses are watered, it is expected that the driver shall enter the saloon and buy a drink for himself.

Rev. J. F. Harmon of the First M. E. Church says he believes East St. Louis is the only city of its size in the world which has no public drinking places of any kind.

BIG FIRE LOSS AT THOMASVILLE, GA.

Many Business Houses and the Piney Woods Hotel Completely Destroyed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. THOMASVILLE, Ga., April 12.—The Piney Woods Hotel, one of the most famous of Southern tourist resorts, was totally destroyed by fire last night. The fire spread to the opera house and thence to the business section of the city. Thomasville asked aid from Valdosta, Bainbridge and Quitman.

which was rushed on a special train, but before its arrival several business houses had been burned. The loss is estimated at $100,000, with only half insurance.

While the hotel fire was at its height a blaze which did great damage broke out in the southern part of the city. It is believed to have been of incendiary origin. Both fires were under control this morning.

U. S. OFFICIAL SOLD ARMS TO ISLAND REBELS

Supplied 428,000 Rounds of Ammunition to Santo Domingo Disturbers.

PURCHASER IN COURT

Says Government Attache Thought Arms Were for the Cuban Revolutionists.

ROOSEVELT THERE THEN

Was Assistant Secretary of the Navy When Deal Was Made.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, April 12.—While the United States was at peace, at least 428,000 rounds of ammunition were supplied to revolutionists, supposed to be Cubans under Gen. Gomez, by a high official of the United States War Department. They were in reality for San Domingo, and the United States War Department was intended by this Jimenez crowd to become the nucleus of a revolution to seize the Government of San Domingo.

These amazing assertions came out in court here in the suit of Joseph L. Cunningham to collect $25,000 from Juan I. Jimenez, former President of the Santo Domingo republic, for services rendered in connection with the ill-fated Fanita expedition of 1897.

The evidence showed that Jimenez had bound himself to pay Cunningham $25,000 after the revolutionist had established a regular government of his own in Santo Domingo. As Huereaux sent the expedition skedaddling, Justice Fitzgerald ruled that Jimenez had incurred no liability.

Cunningham testified that he had, at Jimenez's request, interviewed several influential persons at Washington and elsewhere in connection with the proposed expedition. He never suspected then, he said, that the expedition was bound for Santo Domingo. He had the word of Jimenez that the Fanita was going to Cuba to help out Gomez and on these representations he got several people to aid the expedition.

Official's Name Suppressed.
One of these persons was "a prominent Government official," whose identity, however, counsel for both Cunningham and Jimenez are careful to conceal. Through this person's influence, Cunningham declared, he got from the "Quartermaster of the United States Army" 428,000 rounds of ammunition for the Fanita. President Roosevelt was then Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

Cunningham said that he had many cipher messages from Jimenez, some of them using him to confer with Gen. Miles, then commanding the United States army.

When he learned that the Fanita had landed in Santo Domingo, and that the revolutionists had been routed by the President Huereaux, Cunningham sought Government influence again to get Jimenez out of trouble. Cunningham said that at this time he was deeply involved financially in the outcome of the expedition, and was surprised to learn that the Fanita had gone to Santo Domingo and not to Cuba.

How did you come to risk all that money without security? he was asked.

He was a "Big Stiff," replied "Because I was a big stiff," amid general laughter.

"Did you inform the United States Government," he was asked, "what was the real purpose for which the arms and ammunition you procured for Jimenez and the Fanita were to be used?"

"I told the Government official that they were to be used in helping Gomez," he answered.

"And Jimenez, too, in trying to overturn a friendly Government?" continued Perry Allen, cross-examining.

"I know nothing of that until afterward," replied Cunningham. "After the failure of the expedition I had a talk with a Government official, who said that Jimenez was surprised and deceived him and that it became known that he had had anything to do with Jimenez he would be in a very serious mess."

"I replied that I had been fooled just as much as he, having understood that the material furnished was going to Gomez, not to help out the Santo Domingo revolutionists. But this official never accused me of deceiving him, sir, for I had never told him one thing and done something else."

HOTELS WILL MAKE ICE.

West End Managers to Resist Price Increase.

Eight of the principal hotels of the West End have combined to resist the demands of ice dealers, who have given notice of an advance of approximately 25 per cent in the price of their product.

A plant for the manufacture of ice and the refrigeration of vegetables and meats will be built and operated by the hotels. This plant will be constructed either in the Buckingham or the Monticello Hotel.

E. C. Dyer, manager of the Buckingham, was chosen president of the association of L. C. Irvine of the Monticello, vice-president, and J. H. Smith of the Lorraine, secretary. Others interested in the movement are F. S. Higgin, Hotel Beers; Mrs. M. E. Beggs, Berlin; Mrs. Elizabeth White and Frank White, Usona; Joseph Gerard, Grand Avenue and Westmoreland.

Mrs. Semberich's Preference.
Before the arrival of Mrs. Semberich, who appeared at the opening of the Metropolitan Opera Co. in this city, the Jefferson Hotel management telegraphed her at Chicago asking what piano she desired for use in her apartment during her stay here.

She replied at once: "I want the Baldwin." The beautiful Baldwin grand piano which was furnished in accordance with her wishes by H. D. Baldwin & Co. is now on display in their store window at 1000 Olive street.

CLAIM ATTORNEY INSULTED JUDGE

Chicago Corporation Counsel Lewis May Be Sentenced for Contempt.

HE MAKES NO APOLOGY

"I Say It to Your Face," He Tells Judge Otis Humphreys.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 12.—For contempt and using insulting language toward the Federal Court in this district, presided over by Judge J. Otis Humphreys, J. Hamilton Lewis, corporation counsel of Chicago, may be sentenced to the Sangamon County Jail, the abiding place of a Federal prisoner, if Col. Lewis appeared before Judge Humphreys today, but instead of trying to purge himself of the charges against him, stood pat, and now patiently is awaiting the sentence which seems pretty sure to be passed.

Judge Humphreys some time ago entered an order awarding the water works at Alton to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Co. of Boston. At the same time an injunction was issued to prevent any persons from filing any suit for money due them. Col. Lewis acted for a client who claimed that the company owed him $300,000, and suit to recover the amount was filed in the State courts. Notice was later served on Col. Lewis to appear before Judge Humphreys and show why he should not be punished for contempt of court.

"Your Honor," said Col. Lewis today, "I do not care to argue this case. I believe I was warranted in any statement I have made. I have never been accused of impudence or ungentlemanly conduct. I did say that I believe Your Honor was wrong in issuing this injunction, that it was unjust and that you did exceed your jurisdiction. I say it now to your face. I have prepared a brief and submit it for your consideration."

Attorneys for the trust company and Alton waterworks argued at length, declaring that Col. Lewis has made insulting remarks and that his action in bringing the civil suit prevented the sale of the property. Judge Humphreys asked Col. Lewis what he intended to do, and Lewis replied that he was waiting to see what action the court would take in the matter. It is generally believed that Col. Lewis will be sentenced to jail for contempt.

The car, one of the Bellefontaine division, had missed a switch and was backing when it struck the child.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 12.—The pupils of the Louisville Public Schools were dismissed today and sent home to plant flower seeds. 30,000 packages were given out for this purpose.

MRS. BOOTH SELLS EX-CONVICT HOME

Flushing Residents Objected and Paid Her Big Profit to Go Elsewhere.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Hope Hall, the home for ex-convicts conducted by Mrs. Ballington Booth of the Volunteers of America and which people of Flushing have fought against, was sold yesterday by Mrs. Booth.

She disposed of the land, comprising ten and one-half acres, for $35,000 to a real estate dealer. Mrs. Booth said last night:

"I do not wish the sale construed as a victory for my enemies. I have neither been bought out nor turned out of town. I have sold because I feel that I can enlarge the charity in some other locality, with the profit on this transaction."

In Hope Hall Mrs. Booth planned to have a home where an ex-convict could go when released from prison and be kept until employment was found for him. Since its start, in December, 1899, 200 inmates have been cared for. Two years ago several ex-convicts living on the charity of Hope Hall were arrested after a series of robberies in Flushing and some of them were convicted.

This started a hue and cry against the institution, which Mrs. Booth fought vigorously. Town meetings were held to protest and a committee called "The Twenty-five" was appointed to devise means of ridding the town of the hall.

Hope Hall statistics show that of the 200 ex-convicts that passed through the hall, 70 per cent became good citizens and five per cent went back to their evil ways. The remaining 25 per cent could not be traced.

County Democrats Will Dine Before Calling Primary.

The St. Louis County Democratic Central Committee will meet at Clayton April 21 on call of J. C. A. There will be nine delegates, and they will attend both meetings.

During the afternoon the committee will give a banquet at the Auterrieth Hotel, at which 60 guests are expected to be present, including candidates for office on the State ticket. Jesse Joplin of Eureka will take advantage of the occasion to launch his boom for Railroad Commissioner.

SAVING IN WATER RATES.

Consumers Paid $291,000 Less in Past Year.

According to the annual report of F. Scharwitz, Assessor and Collector of Water Rates, consumers have saved during the fiscal year which ended April 3, $291,000, by the reduction on meter rates made by the Municipal Assembly. The report shows that the collections for the year just ended amounted to $1,702,127.97, against $1,993,237.97 for the previous year. Adding the new meters that have been put in since the reduction in rates the difference in revenue is shown by comparison with the old rates. The actual decrease in collections is more than $291,000.

Outside of the revenue derived from meters, the increase in collections amounts to $48,127.27. During the year 487 taps were granted for building purposes, compared with 350 for the previous year.

LIVES WITH STAB WOUND IN HEART

Texan Badly Knifed in a Fight Still Has Fighting Chance.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. EL PASO, Tex., April 13.—Adam Thomas was stabbed through the heart in a fight with Dick Andrews, but he is alive and has a chance of recovery.

He has already lived 20 hours with the right auricle of the heart pierced an inch. The disk with which he was stabbed first punctured the lung and then entered the heart.

Dr. George A. Lewis, in discussing the case, said: "The condition of Thomas is remarkable because of the grave nature of his wound. There have been cases of recovery where the heart was punctured, but in those cases the wound was not so deep as this one."

BURGLES BEG TO BE KEPT IN CELL

Gerber Says "Impulses" Force Him to Steal Against His Will

DISSIPATED A FORTUNE

Admits He's Using Alias, but Won't Tell What Real Name Is

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, April 13.—The first man in the line of prisoners at the Yorkville Police Court presented a psychological puzzle. He was Gustav Gerber, according to police records, but he admitted that there was a time when another name fitted him better. That was before he became a victim of impulses which have made him ashamed to reveal his true name.

Gerber broke into a cell at police headquarters, but it was a hard job. He had to produce plenty of evidence to prove his guilt. But Gerber was not a man who would let himself be taken in by a name. He announced he had committed. Detective Drenth of the Central Police, who said the prisoner turned up at police headquarters with a "jimmy" in one hand and a set of false teeth in the other—a gold watch, silver watch, gold ring and bracelet.

"I'm a burglar," said Gerber, denouncing his "jimmy" and plunder on the desk in front of the sergeant on duty. "I robbed a flat on the second floor at 310 East Thirty-second street last Monday afternoon at 11 o'clock."

This was news to the police and they refused to believe the man who wanted to be put in a cell. But Gerber was insistent and said he simply must be locked up then and there, or one of his "impulses" would surely get the better of him again. That was another power for the desk sergeant, but he finally decided to accommodate Gerber and so put him in his "impulses" cell.

Impulse Worked on Flat.
"I am trying to break away from this strange power that comes over me at times," the prisoner told Magistrate Mayo. "I am moved at intervals by impulses that are uncontrollable and I was while under this power that I was led to rob that flat on Monday. It was my first attempt at anything of the kind and I hope it may be my last, but when one of these impulses gets hold of me, I am powerless to resist it. I just have to do its bidding."

"I am a machinist and can make $21 a week when I work. I ran through it. Fortune that was left to me by an uncle. It went in a few months in gambling resorts and at the racetracks. I did not know and you must not get that idea. But something must be done to save me from my impulses. When I started to rob that flat on Monday night, I was in the world come to the police and I was arrested. I was in the world come to the police and I was arrested. I was in the world come to the police and I was arrested."

By Norah Was Worried.
The Birmingham (England) Post says that Norah was worried by the fact that her husband had returned wailing distress. "I can't predict some great trouble," she said. "I can't predict some great trouble."

MITCHELL HOPES TO AVOID STRIKE

Meets Independent Anthracite Owner—Leaves New York Tomorrow

NEW YORK, April 13.—President Mitchell of the Miners' Union was busy today preparing to close his headquarters here and return to Indianapolis tomorrow. All the members of the General Scale Committee have left for their homes in the anthracite regions and will not be called together until after the operators reply to a proposition submitted to them yesterday by the miners.

In the face of the pessimistic expressions of some of the members of the Scale Committee, President Mitchell is hopeful of a peaceful ending of the controversy with the operators. He believes the operators will make an answer which will permit the continuance of the negotiations instead of a strike ending them.

E. B. Sturgis of Scranton, an independent coal operator and one of those who signed the letter sent to the operators yesterday, called on Mitchell and after a brief conference with Mr. Mitchell, said: "I am here to see Mr. Mitchell about one matter and that is the strike."

WEAR SHOES AND CHEAT LAZY WORM

Government Wants Porto
Ricans to Stop Wandering About Barefooted.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, April 13.—The wearing of shoes by Porto Ricans is being encouraged by the Government. Gov. Winthrop was before the Committee on Insular Affairs of the House and told of the ravages of the lazy, or hook, worm among the natives. He said that once they become infected with it they become listless, without energy and could not be induced to work.
The investigation by the Colonial Government, he said, had resulted in the discovery that the natives who went about barefooted were more susceptible to the disease than those who wore shoes. It was found that the hook worms got on the feet and legs of the natives and then enter the body. The Government compels all persons over whom it has any jurisdiction to wear shoes, although Gov. Winthrop said it did not specify the kind or make of shoe to be worn.

ROUGH RIDERS GET BEST JOBS IN THE WOULD-BE STATES

Twenty Per Cent of the Members of Roosevelt's Pet Organization Hold Federal Places in Oklahoma and Indian Territory, Emoluments Ranging From $1000 to $10,000 a Year.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
GUTHRIE, O. T., April 13.—In Oklahoma and Indian Territory alone 15 former Rough Riders are now holding public office. The most important appointment recently is that of Capt. Frank Frantz to be Governor of Oklahoma, at a salary of $3000 a year. He was a Captain of Rough Riders, succeeding "Buck" O'Neal, who was killed at San Juan Hill.

Of the Rough Rider appointments made by the President in the two territories he has only one to regret—that of Ben Colbert to be United States Marshal for the Southern District of Indian Territory.

After he had served a short time several charges were filed against Colbert, one alleging that he allowed a cashier, who had wrecked a bank, to escape.

Colbert served his term of four years and was a candidate for reappointment, but was succeeded by Grosvenor A. Porter, a cousin of Mrs. Roosevelt.

The position pays a salary of $3500 a year. The most lucrative position held by any of the former Rough Riders is that of Chief of the Federal Court at Oklahoma City, which is held by Charles Hunter, president of the National Rough Riders' Association. With fees, the position is worth about $10,000 a year.

The political patronage of Oklahoma is at present divided between Hunter and Frantz. The records of the Rough Riders' Association show that of the 80 members of the famous regiment now living in Oklahoma and Indian Territory, more than 20 per cent are holding Federal positions.

Besides the appointments mentioned the following offices are held by former Rough Riders, according to the records of the association:

Rough Riders' Plc.

Chris Madsen, now Deputy Marshal at Chickasha, I. T., who will become Chief Deputy under United States Marshal Abernathy at Guthrie, after April 1, at a salary of $1200.

S. A. McGinnis, stationed at Muskogee, I. T., as law clerk for the Dawes Commission.

Leon Muxlow, court crier at Guthrie, $1000.

H. R. Randolph, Postmaster at Waukomis, O. T., $1000.

J. N. Jackson, Deputy Marshal at Pauls Valley, I. T., about $225.

William Bailey, Wynnewood, I. T., Constable, $188.

Ira E. Hill, clerk of the Sixth District Court of Oklahoma, about $4000.

"Jim" Hadden, Deputy United States Marshal, $2500.

Ben Holderman, member of Indian police.

Besides the foregoing, there are seven Rough Riders holding Civil Service positions such as postal clerks, carriers, etc.

The name of Edward Norris of Mulhall, O. T., is under consideration for appointment as Postmaster at that town.

Mrs. Robert Huston, widow of a Rough Rider, is a candidate for the Guthrie postmastership, a position held by her late husband. She has the endorsement of the Republican delegation.

William Mitchell, a member of the Guthrie police force, is to become a Deputy Marshal.

Joseph Proctor, who enlisted as a Rough Rider from this State, was recently appointed a Deputy Marshal in Nebraska; Ben Daniels, whose nomination for United States Marshal of Arizona is held up in the Senate, was formerly a citizen of Oklahoma. A number of other former Rough Riders hold Federal positions in other States.

NOTHING BUT FOOD FOR THIS BURGLAR

Spurns Silverware, but Takes Roast Beef, Ham, Milk and a Nap.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BOSTON, April 13.—The South End police are looking for the lightest burglar they ever heard of. He has made three "breaks" in as many days, and his only booty has been what he would eat on the spot, although silverware and valuables have been as easy of access in each case as food.

One man found that his icebox had been visited and a cut of roast beef, part of a ham and a jar of milk had been taken. In the dining room were indications that the visitor had also taken a nap.

A similar report has come from Columbus avenue. In this case the interloper left a piece of paper on which was written, "A man with a hungry stomach called during the night." Only eatables were missing. The burglary on Monday was also on Columbus avenue, and again nothing but food was taken. In the last two instances the burglar stopped long enough to cook his meals, which, apparently, were big ones.

"A Trip from New York to the Island of Robinson Crusoe," is to be the subject of a travelogue by Arminius T. Haeberle, well-known traveler in the Auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. Building, Grand and Franklin avenues, Thursday evening, April 13. The entertainment is under the auspices of the Spanish-American Club of St. Louis. Illustrated with stereopticon views, the lecture will follow a voyage taken by Haeberle by way of the Straits of Magellan to Chile, South America, Juan Fernandez, the lonely island home of the original of Crusoe, will be accurately described and illustrated.

Cornerstone Laying May 6.

The cornerstone of the new St. Bernard's Church, Hamilton and Minerva avenues, will be laid May 6 by Archbishop Glennon. Before the ceremonies at the church, a parade of 800 persons will march from Page and Union boulevards north to Easton avenue, thence to the church. The Archbishop will deliver an address in English at the laying of the cornerstone. The church will speak in German. The church will cost, aside from furnishings, $20,000. It will be of Gothic type, with a tower 152 feet high. Father E. J. Lemkes is pastor.

Three Licenses Revoked.

The State Board of Health will give a hearing to Dr. Mary Murphy, a midwife, charged with objectionable practices, at its meeting in Kansas City May 1. The case was set for hearing at the meeting of the board at the Southern Hotel Thursday, but Mrs. Murphy was not present. The board heard the cases of Dr. Annie Newland and Mrs. Matilda Meyers and Dr. A. F. Peeler, convicted in the courts of objectionable practices, and revoked their licenses.

TO LAY CORNERSTONE.

Ceremony of Second German Presbyterians Sunday.

The congregation of the Second German Presbyterian Church will celebrate the laying of the cornerstone for its new structure at 3 p. m. Sunday. Rev. Dr.

W. J. McKittrick of the First Presbyterian Church will deliver the chief address of the day. Rev. H. A. Friedrich, pastor of the church, will preside. Rev. G. J. Kessler of the First German Church will deliver an address in German.

The old church at Grand avenue and North Nineteenth street was torn down, and the new structure will be erected in its place at a cost of $15,000. The congregation of 80 is holding its services in a tent while the new church is building.

Extenuating Circumstances.

From the Philadelphia Press.
"I'm told you play golf on the Sabbath," said the Rev. Mr. Goodman, stentor.

"Yes," replied Miss Kate, "but on that day I only use the sticks I won at our church fair."
